THE BAYSHORE Freeway was the scene of carnage and destruction on Saturday afternoon. Three persons were killed and five injured in a spectacular head-on collision. A car driven by Benjamin Webster of East Palo Alto careened over the center divider fence and smashed into a vehicle driven by Michael Haddad of San Francisco. When Webster's auto hit the fence, it catapulted into the air for about 75 feet before landing in the northbound lanes. The accident happened near the San Francisco International Airport in San Bruno. (See Story, Column 5, below). (Post Photos)

$1,000,000 Suit Filed By Candidate

A $1 million defamation and false arrest suit will be filed in Superior Court this week on behalf of L. T. Clark, Brisbane City Council candidate who was arrested on a theft charge two weeks ago, attorney Gerald M. Schneider said today.

Brisbane Police Chief Billy Beard and Ronald J. Musetti of San Francisco will be named as defendants, Schneider said.

Clark, a wealthy contractor, was arrested by Beard March 25 on a grand theft complaint signed by Musetti, who accused Clark of stealing a dismantled plywood building, which had been stored on a vacant lot adjoining Clark's Visitacion Avenue home, for use as campaign signs.

Both Musetti and Clark claimed to be renters of the lot and Clark insisted that he had permission to use the plywood panels.

Clark pleaded not guilty in an appearance yesterday before Municipal Court Judge Robert Miller in South San Francisco. Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 2 p.m. April 17.

Schneider said the civil suit, to be filed in Redwood City, will assert that there is no evidence to support Musetti's claim that Clark stole his building, which was last used as a sales shack on a Christmas tree lot.

"Any sort of an investigation at all would have shown that there was no criminal liability on Clark's part," Schneider declared.

Clark, considered one of the favorites for election in the April 14 municipal election, claimed ownership of more than $250,000 worth of real property in a campaign declaration. Musetti's plywood, which was recovered and held by Beard as evidence, was valued at $250.

D.C. PETITIONS

Someday, A Golf Course?

Richard Miyashiro of Daly City likes his golf but he doesn't like traveling long distances to get to a course and paying a premium price to play when he gets there.

He decided last month to do something about both handicaps.

Armed with petitions, the ardent golfer started making the rounds of the city asking folks if they thought having a municipal course within the immediate area was a good idea, and also if they agreed that San Francisco should stop charging "outsiders" a higher rate to play.

More than 150 people agreed with Miyashiro and signed the petitions.

The golf mania that is currently sweeping the country has an increasingly large following in the North County and so Miyashiro's suggestion that the city buy property and build a course in the area caught on fast.

Two weeks after he started collecting signatures he presented one petition to Daly City officials and the other, regarding lowering golf rates at San Francisco courses, to that city's board of supervisors.

Meanwhile, Daly City Mayor Bernard Lycett said it was his understanding that San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto had been contacted on the rate situation and had indicated he would have it lowered—at least at Sharps Park Golf Course in Pacifica.

And in case there has been a breakdown in communications between San Francisco and San Mateo County supervisors, Mayor Lycett instructed city manager David Rowe to send out another letter.

Where to build a golf course in Daly City was a question putted around Monday during the council's study session.

Someone suggested the Mussel Rock dump site that would be ready to build a park on in about five years. The ocean front refuse dump will provide a 40-acre sit when filled to capacity.

Golfers on the council (there are four) mentioned the wind and the inadequate size of the parcel.

Another took Miyashiro's suggestion that a course might be built on San Bruno Mountain.

And yet another talked about the possibility of one day hitting a ball down long lush fairways at the Southern Pacific Railroad yards in Brisbane where San Francisco deposited its garbage for many years.

In the end, the council decided to send the petitions to the city's Recreation Commission in the hope that they will come up with some solid answers.

THIS WAS THE SCENE as the Jefferson Elementary School District's administrative building at 101 Lincoln in Daly City was named for Martin Luther King, Jr., Saturday. City and school officials, as well as prominent members of Daly City's black community were present, including Mrs. Madge Bradstreet of the NAACP, who accepted a bronzed plaque to be placed in the building. Among those pictured are Board Chairman Joseph Lewkowitz, Councilman Frank Pacelli (at rostrom), Supt, Frank Greenwood, the Rev. Howard Bryant and Trustee Dorothy Adams. (Post Photo)

Color Film Needed For El Camino High's Trip

It appears that the European trip by the El Camino High School theatrical group of South San Francisco may be recorded for posterity on color film with a soundtrack.

Principal Rober Keropian Monday afternoon appeared before the councilmen during their study session to request $600 for the purchase of film. He still needs a cameraman.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli adroitly passed the request for $600 to Chamber of Commerce President Gordon Murphy, who happened to be sitting in on the session.

Murphy indicated the chamber had enough money in their budget, but would have to obtain approval from the board of directors when they meet Thursday morning. He said he felt there would be no objection.

The chamber president said that in exchange he would like to see the chamber and the city receive credit on film.

Keropian assured Murphy this would be done, and that the school would own the film.

Regarding the cameraman, Keropian said he has contacted three television stations with a proposal that the school would pick up the expenses for a cameraman in exchange for his filming the tour from start to finish.

"This way we would get our trip on film by a professional, and the men would get a free two-week vacation in Europe. All three stations are very interested," said Keropian.

The $600 donation by the chamber, which hinges on the obtaining of a cameraman, would be for the purchase of 4,000 feet of color film with a sound track. The cost also would include processing and editing. Incidentally, Keropian said he contacted film companies for donation of film without success.

"We will have something we can market when we come back," said Keropian. "It will really put South San Francisco on the map. And we can show it to the state legislature and all (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Land Negotiation Said Unproductive

Negotiations have been unproductive between South San Francisco officials and representatives of the Bodinson Manufacturing Company regarding right-of-way for the proposed improvement and widening of South Airport Boulevard.

City Mgr. Tom McKenzie Monday night received authorization from city councilmen to begin eminent domain proceedings for acquisition of approximately 8,000 square feet of Bodinson property.

Layout of the roadway necessitates cutting into Bodinson frontage slightly. Bodinson has claimed this piece chipped away from his property would reduce the over-all value of the property.

According to McKeninze, "he (Bodinson) doesn't think the price is right, nor does he feel the project should go the way it is proposed."

The road improvement was first placed on the agenda back in November after some bargaining with the county for approval to go ahead with the project.

Several of the businesses along the proposed roadway aired their dissatisfaction with exactly how the project was laid out. Most acquiesced to minor alterations.

Bodinson, however, stood fast in his opposition to any infringement on his property.

When discussions with Bodinson failed to change his outlook, McKenzie obtained permission to have the property appraised.

The objective here was to obtain an over-all property value and have a bargaining position with Bodinson to pay him for the piece, and purchase all nearby property if necessary.

After much negotiation, the parties remain at an impasse, thus prompting McKenzie's request Monday night for eminent domain action to pay Bodinson the appraised value. The city, incidentally, will post a bond of 10 per cent of the appraised value.

Auto Cut In Half; Two Injured

Two youths were reported in fair condition at Mary's Help Hospital Tuesday after their car was cut in half by another vehicle as it pulled out of a Daly City service station around midnight Monday.

Witness said a car driven by Dennis R. Harer, 21, of 80 Huntington Drive, Daly city jumped a stop sign at the corner of Southgate and Carlton avenues and slammed into the victim's car at estimated 90 miles per hour.

"The victims' car was literally torn in half," police Sgt. Robert Ingebretson said.

Pulled from the wreckage was Kamaran Bral, 17, and Arfa Ali Akda Mofsavi, 17, both of 209 St. Francis Boulevard.

They suffered extensive head injuries, laceration and possible internal injuries and are in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Harer, later booked on felony drunk driving charges, received a cut lip in the crash.

Police said Harer was seen "doing between 70 and 90 miles per hour" up Southgate Avenue about 11 p.m.

As the two youths pulled out of a service station at Skyline Plaza, Harer's car struck them

Five Injured

Three Die In Accident

A car flew over the center barrier fence on Bayshore Freeway near International Airport Saturday, crashed head-on into another auto and took three lives.

Five occupants of a third car were injured when it smacked into the wreckage.

Dead are Benjamin Webster Sr., 55, of 1220 Cypress Street, East Palo Alto; Alberta Price, 69, of 1302 Hollyburne Avenue, Menlo Park, and Michael Haddad, 73, of San Francisco.

Highway Patrolman W. F. Toy and Thomas McGuire said the accident happened at 1:40 p.m. when Webster's southbound sedan veered into the center divider for an undetermined reason. When the auto hit the fence it was catapulted into the air and flew for about 75 feet before landing in the northbound lanes, where it collided head-on with Haddad's sedan. Witnesses said Haddad had no chance to take evasive action.

Haddad's car spun around and was hit by a northbound (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Municipal-Financed Bus System? Pacificans Vote

In addition to the election of three councilmen, from among 14 candidates, Pacifica voters also will have a chance to decide whether or not they want a publicly-financed bus system.

A proposition on next Tuesday's ballot asks:

"Shall the City of Pacifica contract for a local bus service as set forth in the ballot argument in favor of this measure?"

Details would follow should the public determine it does want publicly-supported transportation.

For two years, until operations recenly ceased, El Mar Transit — commonly known as the "Little Red Bus" — was the local transportation, and with "advertising" subvention.

In the council race are incumbents Nick Gust and Harland Minshew, and challengers Jim Treanor, Gino Ottonello, Fred Howard, Ken Addleman, Russ Conroy, David Foster, Berenice Palmer, Karen Pierce, Gil Anda, Stan Farber, Aubrey Lumley and Karl Strutz.

Probation Ordered In Bookie Case

Two more members of a North County bookie ring broken up by district attorney's investigators last August were placed on a year's summary probation and fined $250 plus state assessments when they appeared before Superior Court Judge Robert F. Kane in Redwood City Tuesday.

Only one more defendent of the 16 persons originally indicted by the county jury in the case—Arthur DeGregoris—is scheduled to stand trial.

The two men to appear before Judge Kane on Tuesday, John F. Kellogg, 45, a bartender, of 435 Hazel Avenue, San Bruno, and Ernest Nebolini, 33, of 643 Baden Avenue, South San Francisco, had their motions that the charges against them be reduced to misdemeanors granted.

Fines meted out to other defendants, who handled football, baseball and basketball betting cards for the alleged kingpin of the ring, George C. Cunnings, who was sentenced to six months in jail but granted permission to serve it in another county, ranged from $200 to $750. Cunnings, however, was ordered to pay a fine of $1500 as a condition of three years' probation.

Air Pollution Talk Planned In Daly City

Air pollution will be the subject of a talk by San Mateo County Supervisor Robert St. Clair at the regular meeting of the Daly City - Colma Chamber of Commerce April 16.

Chamber president Don Halverson said St. Clair, former mayor of Daly City and a member of the Bay Area Pollution Control Board, will bring plans and progress of the clean air program now underway.

St. Clair's subjects will include some of the necessary restrictions and regular regulations to protect the public.

The public is invited to attend the meeting at Toto's Restaurant, Junipero Serra Boulevard.

The principal noted that the group has $26,000 set aside for the trip, "90 per cent of it from the citizens of South San Francisco."

An added sidelight was the fact that a phone call was received recently to inform school officials of the plan of German officials to fly the group free to Berlin. Berlin was not on the itinerary.

The trip also will now include Denmark, according to Keropian.

On the trip, a tightly disciplined, performance-oriented troupe of 35 of the school's performing arts department will present an hour-an-a-half performance which includes an intricately-woven program of jazz, dance, singing, acrobatics and mime during which no English will be spoken.

Richard Hart Memorial Fund Established In DC

The Richard D. Hart Memorial Fund has been established at Westmoor High School to award scholarships to deserving seniors.

Hart, who died suddenly on March 27, was assistant principal - guidance at Westmoor and was the coordinating administrator for student activities.

Before returning to Westmoor in the fall 1969, Hart had served as counselor at Terra Nova High School and student activities director for two years.

He began his teaching career in the district at Westmoor in 1957. He taught mathematics. He later became a counselor, attendance supervisor and student activities director. Because of his continuous interest in students, a scholarship fund in his memory was considered most appropriate. His family has concurred.

Terra Nova's student body voted to give $300 from their treasury to the Memorial Fund and Westmoor's student government is in the process of making a pledge of a sum of money. Volunteer students Marlene Biro, Michele Harriman, and Jim Bari are also collecting from the student body.

Contributions have already been received from Jefferson, Serramonte, Terra Nova and Westmoor teachers, as well as from community friends of Mr. Hart, according to Mrs. Doris Lindfors, temporary chairman of the fund.

"Hopefully, there will be enough money in the fund to award an annual scholarship from the interest on the principal," Mrs. Lindfors said.

Anyone desiring to contribute to the fund should make his check payable to the Richard D. Hart Memorial Fund and send it to Mr. Lindfors, Westmoor High School.

JOSEPH MOTTOLA

Joe Mottola Chairs Flag Day Event

The first annual "Daly City Host Lions' Flag Day" will be held on Thursday, according to McRobert Stewart, president of the Daly City Host Lions' Club.

Chairman for the event will be Joseph Mottola who will be assisted by several members of the club. In February of 1969 the Cupertino host Lions' Club introduced the first Lions Flag Day in its community. When the project was started the Lions had no idea of the overwhelming response that would be received from the schools and people of the community. The club received over 1200 letters from children, teachers and parents commending the club. Lions International thought so highly of this community program that it devoted a full-length feature article on the project in its June issue of the Lion magazine which is distributed to more than 900,000 Lion members throughout the world.

On Thursday, all first graders of the Jefferson Elementary School District will receive a red, white and blue card explaining what the flag stands for. Each first grader will also be given a 4x5 inch American flag to take home. All costs for this project are being borne by the Daly City host Lions' Club.

POSSESSION

An 18-year-old San Bruno youth, Jeffery H. Rudman, of 117 Santa Maria Avenue, has been booked on charges of possession of marijuana.

Officer Tom Stewart and Detective Hugh Fraser made the arrest at about 7 p.m. yesterday at the Santa Maria Avenue residence following routine investigation.

Crestmoor High's Sierra Club Raps Signs On Trees

The Sierra Club at Crestmoor High School has taken a stand against posting political signs on trees in San Bruno.

Students in the club are against such a practice.

The members stated they were extremely pleased with the response they received from city council candidates Karney Barberian and Robert Price, who removed their signs immediately upon request of the conservation group.

After a letter was sent to all candidates with signs on trees on March 11, the two candidates removed their signs and sent responses apologizing for their signs and promising that no more of their signs would appear on trees in San Bruno.

They also repeated their plea that the other two candidates with signs still on trees, Mayor Neil Christal and Councilman George Ingram, take their signs down from trees on San Brjno Avenue, Huntington Avenue, Crystal Springs Avenue, and other locations around the city. Members stated that they wouldbe very willing to help them remove their sings from San Bruno's trees.

They also congratulated city council candidates Anthony Governale, Theodore Long, and Dick Griffith for never putting signs on trees during the entire campaign.

Library Week Bonus Told: DC Book Fine Moratorium

Book lovers and librarians in all parts of the United States have prepared plans for the 1970 National Library Week.

With "Reading Is For Everyone," as its theme, National Library Week will feature comments by radio and television personalities; articles in major periodicals and newspapers, book fairs and book sales.

According to Samuel Chandler, City Librarian, the highlights of the week for the citizens of Daly City will be the posters and mobiles that will decorate all the branches of the Public Library. Special bookmarks, designed by the artist Larry Ross, and colorful buttons featuring the theme will be given to the patrons.

A moritoriam on fines has been declared for all branches of the Daly City Public Library. "It is hoped," Chandler said, "that everyone will use this opportunity to return books and other library materials that have become overdue.

U.S. Assistance On Water Project

The North Coast Water District in Pacifica hopes to call for bids for construction of two new water storage tanks and installation of additional transmission lines within four months.

That is General Manager Harlan Hill's preliminary timetable after receiving news from Sen. George Murphy that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has funded somewhat under half of the over-all project cost.

Improvements will include construction of two steel water storage tanks, each of five million gallon capacity, transmission lines and some equipment.

Hill said the district would be paying over half the cost, inasmuch as HUD will not participate financially in the engineering, which is in progress.

Final plans, however, have not been developed, Hill said.

The Pacifica district already has 22 tanks scattered about the coastal community, with a ten million gallon storage capacity. Installation of the newly authorized tanks will boost the storage-emergency capacity to some 20 millions of gallons.

Hill said the district's master plan envisions a total storage capacity of 38 million was gallons over the next 12 years.

New tanks will be in the Crespi Drive area, above the Sea Bowl, and on Gypsy Hill, off Sharp Park Road, Hill explained.

Transmission line installation will be primarily in the Fairway Park and Sharp Park regions, he pointed out.

Hill said HUD representatives have praised his district's long range plans as meeting the HUD requirements, while "many cities and agencies in San Mateo County do not."

Talking of the district's long-range plans, Hill noted, "We're working toward a future connection with the Coastside County Water District in Half Moon Bay."

Hill explained that the North Coast County Water District already has cross connections with Daly City, Westborough (South San Francisco) and San Bruno.

"So," he said, "if we can get a cross connection with the Coastside, we'll be covered on both sides for emergencies."

Work on the tank project is expected to take at least a year to complete once it's started, Hill declared.

Driver Arrested For Having Gun

Another arrest was made Thursday in the taxi war at International Airport.

Robert E. Richardson, 41, a driver for the Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco, was booked for possession of a concealed weapon after a cabbie for the rival Yellow Cab Company of Pacifica snitched on him

Thomas J. Piana, an airport police officer, told Deputy Sheriff Thomas M. O'Rourke that the informant, who was not identified, complained that Richardson had displayed the gun to him by pulling his jacket open. O'Rourke said he searched Richardson's car and found, in a shoulder holster under the driver's seat, a .38-caliber revolver loaded with six live rounds of ammunition.

Richadrson, of 1144 Cervantes Way, Pacifica, was involved in a dispute at the airport the previous night in which two Pacifica drivers were accused of assault. No arrests were made at that time.

Officials and drivers of the San Francisco firm, which has a franchise to operate at the airport, have accused the Yellow Cab Company of Pacifica, which is actually a South San Francisco-based company, of pirating fares. Last week two Pacifica drivers were arrested for "trespassing."

Richardson was released from county jail on $625 bail.

Another Cab War Battle At Airport

Another skirmish in the big taxicab war at International Airport was fought Thursday, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Gene R. Masini said Drabe Mohammed Farraj, 25, a driver for the Yellow Cab Company of Pacifica, complained that three cabbies of the Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco had threatened him and had blocked his cab with theirs.

A San Francisco driver, Bruce G. Bruechner, 28, then told the deputy that Farraj had tried to "commandeer" a fare. While he argued with Farraj, Bruechner said, Daher Mohammed Farraj, 37, another Pacifica driver, tried to "run him down" with his cab. Orabe Farraj then threatened him with a piece of iron piep, Bruecnher told Masini.

Orabe Farraj left the scene at that point when other San Francisco drivers came to Bruechner's aid, the deputy reported.

No one was arrested and Masini told the combatants that if any of them wants to sign a complaint they should contact the sheriff's court officer.

Two drivers for Yellow Cab of Pacifica, which is headquartered in South San Francisco, were arrested two weeks ago for "trespassing" at the airport, where the San Francisco firm has the taxi franchise. A number of lawsuits have been filed in the case.

Worker On Ditch Job Is Injured

Carl Don Leyva, 44, of 201 Fremont Avenue, Pacifica, sustained serious injuries Friday in a construction accident at Moss Beach.

H. C. Varner, manager of the Montara Sanitary District, told Deputy Sheriff John Hammastrom that Leyva was working at the bottom of a 10-foot deep ditch at Buena Vista Avenue and California Street just before noon when a clod of dirt about the size of a softball fell from the top of the ditch and struck him on the head. It did not seem to bother Leyva much, Varner said.

Fifteen minutes later, Varner related, Leyva was climbing out of the ditch, with the aid of a shovel held by Verner, when he suddenly seemed to black out, released his grip on the shovel and fell backward to the bottom of the ditch.

The victim was taken by ambulance to Mary's Help Hospital and was admitted for treatment of a spinal injury.

P-TA Awards To Pacific Heights Duo

Dedicated service to children sums up the outstanding achievements of Miss Betty Ojeda, teacher, and Mrs. Barbara Stegman, active in P-TA and Girl Scouts, both winners of the Pacific Heights P-TA Honorary Service Award for 1969-70. Miss Ojeda, born in Guadalajara, Mexico, has given much of herself to the children of Pacific Heights School since it opened in 1959.

She was instrumental in setting up the library and staff and served in the capacity of teacher coordinator on the P-TA Board.

Last summer she toured the back parts of Japan often sleeping on the floors of countryside inns. She met a group of young Japanese schoolgirls with whom her fourth grade class is presently corresponding.

Next summer's plans include a trip down the Colorado River.

Mrs. Ronald Stegman is a working mother.

While serving the first of her two terms as P-TA president from 1966 to 1968, she initiated the Block Parent program in Pacific Heights and has helped to bring the benefits of this program to other schools in San Bruno and Pacifica. She has also served the P-TA as treasurer, corresponding secretary, room mother, and institutional representative.

Mrs. Stegman has been a Girl Scout troop leader four years — this year serving as organizer for Pacific Heights.

Following up the fall production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Westmoor Drama Department presents its spring plays "The American Dream" and "The Bald Soprano," on April 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Parichan of Fresno, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan to John F. Price, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leo Warren Price of Daly City. The bride-to-be is a art major and the future benedict is a physical education major at Pepperdine College in Los Angeles. The couple will exchange wedding vows on April 18, at the Shrine of Saint Theresa in Fresno.

The cast for Edward Albee's "The American Dream" includes Laura Rippon playing the part of Mommy, Jeff Harris as Daddy; Linda Intaschi will play Grandma; Marilee Jeppson will play Mrs. Barker, and Rudy Christians will portray the young man.

"The American Dream" is a masterly parody of cliche phrases designed to point out the absence of any real feeling in the words originally convered, according to Kenneth Brown, who is the head of the drama department at Westmoor.

Players Rehearse 'The Odd Couple'; Scout Gathering

Daly City Girl Scouts of 31 troops are busy preparing entertainment for Scout-A-Whirl 1970 to be held at the Oakland Coliseum for two days, on April 18 from 12:30 to 8 p.m. and April 19 from 12 to 6 p.m.

Many adults of the Daly City community are contributing their time, talent and training to the troops and working with the girls to produce dramas, song and dance routines.

The Pacifica Spindrift Players final production of the 1969-1970 Season is well into rehearsals according to Director Bob Lawson. Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple" concerns two new bachelors and their struggle to adjust to their new freedom and to living with one another.

The Ursuline Guild of St. John's High School will hold a meeting of mothers and fathers today in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be from the Narcotics Bureau.

Grand Knight Jim Haug has announced that two new members have been added to the council chambers of Marian Council No. 3773, Knights of Columbus. They are Louis A. Tricerri, 892 Lausanne, Daly City; and Herbert C. Bradford, 209 Edgewood Drive, Pacifica.

THE MARQUEE

Tight Control On 'The Boys'

Novelists seldom are given the opportunity of writing the film script of their work and playwrights are felt to work in another medium and therefore not qualified to translate their drama into cinematic terms.

Mart Crowley, 34-year-old author of the highly successful "Boys In The Band" which is currently playing at the Northpoint Theater insisted on turning his play into a film on his own terms.

"It's my number and I wanted to see it kept the same, not a lot of Hollywood big name actors cavorting around. I didn't want the focal point of the New York apartment to become a fabulous pad."

"When the play got recognition, I got offers from studios. I said I'd have to be part of the package which finished a lot of luncheon dates and conversations right there."

One of his stipulations was that the film feature the original New York stage cast. The author defends the birthday party group of homosexuals as not all being guilt-ridden. He insists that the play isn't representational of the entire world of homosexuality but it is generally known that he wrote it as a personal therapy at a time when he was having emotional problems.

☆ ☆ ☆

FILM WORK ISN'T ANYTHING NEW FOR THE YOUNG PLAYWRIGHT. He had been a production assistant on "Butterfield 8" and worked on six or seven films in Hollywood. It was during "Splendor In The Grass" that he became Natalie Wood's private secretary and traveled with her for two years. She paid for his psychoanalysis when he retreated to Acapulco after numerous disappointments and six screenplays that never got produced.

His next play will be set in that Mexican resort and is titled "Remote Asylum." His third play will deal with suicide.

The stage version of "Boys In The Band" set a landmark for public acceptance of a once-touchy entertainment theme. It is currently playing in London, Paris, Copenhagen, Berlin, Sweden, Amsterdam, Melbourne and Sidney, Australia. It closed in San Francisco in January.

The original off-Broadway production is now in its third year and it was the first legitimate show to play for the fun-sun seeking crowds in Las Vegas.

"I've been accused of getting the telephone game idea from Virginia Woolf and I'll admit that's a possibility. I think I made it up but who knows where ideas come from and what influences a writer."

Show will be held in San Bruno school's multi-purpose room. Early reservations should be made with Alicia Clay, Florence Smith or Joanne Michelucci. LOUANNE HEATH'S DATEBOOK

It is almost time for the elegant Fuchsia Ball!

Strange as it may seem, winter is a thing of the past and spring activities are in full swing. Everyone seems to be feeling a touch of spring fever for the past lovely days have been conspicuous for the bustle of committeewomen intent upon those chores which go into preparing for any sort of social event.

Among those busiest was Mrs. Elwin R. Short, just tapped to be the chairman of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's gala, the Fuchsia Ball. Mrs. Clifton D. West, guild chairman, announced Mrs. Short's appointment to the membership during the March business gathering.

Held in May of each year, the ball traditionally is the culminating event on the guild's activities calendar. It is most assuredly the event which the guild members await most eagerly to share with their friends and the community at large, according to Mrs. Shelly Mangini, publicity chairman.

The date selected for this year's edition of the Fuchsia Ball is May 16 and current plans call for it to be staged in the Gold Room of the Fairmont Hotel. Mrs. Mangini reports that it will feature a superb dinner, lovely decor and danceable music to be provided by Maurice Wolohan's orchestra.

The ball is presented as a benefit for the coronary care unit presently under construction at Mary's Help Hospital.

ARE YOU AN INVETERATE collector of trading stamps but one who seldom does anything about redeeming them? Give note to a need!

Mrs. Dorothy Young of Pacifica is in charge of the Art Guild of Pacifica Drive to collect enough Blue Chip Stamps to purchase a six by eight-foot movie screen for the Cultural Room of the Pacifica library. Your trading stamps would be a welcome addition to the growing supply set aside for this worthy cause.

MRS. LEE STRINGER and Mrs. Peggy Crandall are working like beavers to prepare Oriental Splendor, the Florence Crittenton Home's North Peninsula Circle's fashion show and luncheon to be held on April 30, in the Thunderbolt Hotel.

The Fashion of Westlake is preparing the selection of dresses to be shown and Frank Dill, the TV and radio personality, will lend his wit to the commentary.

MRS. EDNA LAUREL CALHAN, president of the Fifty Plus Club in Pacifica, is on a talent search. The senior citizens group is planning to start an orchestra and Mrs. Calhan is attempting to get all the musically skilled seniors in the Pacifica area involved.

The idea for the orchestra came from Hall Moon Bay where the senior citizens club has a successful musical aggregation. Plans are abrewing for the Half Moon Bay group to visit the Fifty Plus-ers and demonstrate their talents. In the meantime, if you are interested let Mrs. Calhan know that type of an instrument you play so she may begin to determine interest and types of instruments available.

If you love music but don't play an instrument there is a need for more singers in the choral group sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Calhan has opened her new home for choral rehearsals and the search is on for voices and a director. If you are interested call Mrs. Calhan for more details.

TERRA NOVA HIGH TOPICS

By Anne Dryden

Terra Nova Seniors have been winning cash awards and bringing honor and glory to their school by participating in scholarship programs.

Sandi Felix and Dave Limcaco each won $50 in the Bank of America Awards Program last week. Awards were based on the grades and high school activities of the competitors and their participation in group discussions held at the Villa Chartier.

Seniors from all over the Peninsula competed for the cash awards. Sandi was a participant in the Fine Arts discussion. Dave represented Vocational Arts. They each won second place in their respective groups.

Also participating in the competition were Deanna Raawe, representing Terra Nova's Science and Math Departments, and Andy Dowsett, representing Liberal Arts.

Joanne Gribble was selected as a finalist in the GEMCO Scholarship Foundation Competition last Wednesday. Thirty high school seniors competed for cash prizes up to $1,000 by participating in a 40-minute group discussion and 20 minutes of individual questioning. The discussion topic concerned United States spending on the arms and space races.

Joanne and 11 other Bay Area students were selected as finalists and will attend an awards banquet at the Sunol Country Club on May 21. First prize is $1,000, second prize $750, third prize $500, and fourth prize $250.

D.C. Cancer Campaign

This month, Daly City residents are being asked to make donations to their unit of the American Cancer Society.

Volunteer block walkers will be going from door to door handing out educational leaflets while accepting donations.

Miss Joyce Swoyer, a newcomer to the Bay Area from Denver, Colo., was initiated into Beta Sigma Chapter, E.S.A. at formal "Jewel-Pin" ceremonies conducted by the President Mykell Hughes at the home of Mrs. Joyce Thompson.

Miss Swoyer will assist other members of the group in a fund raising activity at the "Flea Market" at the San Francisco Cow Palace on April 11.

Serramonte News Notes

Steve Lopez and Rosalyn Pack were recommended by the Serramonte faculty to be the Exchange Club's boy and girl of the month of March. They were awarded plaques at a luncheon on March 24.

Steve had been recommended for his athletic ability.

Rosalyn was chosen because of the initiative she assumed in making posters and signs in order to increase school spirit at activities.

In this world of future - oriented ideals, Serramonte took time to step out of the present to experience a long gone age, the epoch of the Renaissance.

Though the scene marked a historical event, the relevancy of a rebirth of the attitudes of Serramonte's student body hung in the air.

Students and teachers participated by dressing in costumes of the Renaissance period, operating the many booths that crowded the malls, and making presentations reflective of this era.

Leather goods, candles, foods, kisses, marriages, and a variety of other items were exchange for the duckets, the currency of the Renaissance which is equal to ten cents.

New-Type McDonald's Opens In San Mateo

The new San Mateo McDonald's, located at 1420 South El Camino Real, is among the first in the 1,150 unit nationwide system to introduce inside seating and new exterior architectural design replacing the giant "Golden Arches" which have become the chain's famous trademark. The San Mateo store also numbers among the first in the nation to include an expanded kitchen and newly designed equipment to provide for greater volume of food preparation and faster service to customers. At the opening ceremony last week, local civic leaders, headed up by Mayor Hugh Wayne, and Cecil Wells, Chamber of Commerce president, were assigned cooking positions at the new-type grill which can run 60 hamburgers continuously at a rate of one every 17 seconds. It is reported by Manager John Waters that the new San Mateo restaurant facility will employ over 50 personnel and will have a capacity to provide some 1,800 sandwiches per hour plus the French fries and milk shakes to go with them. Since emphasis is on quality food at the most economical prices possible, car hops and tipping are eliminated; and because of the family clientele, no juke boxes, public phones or cigarette machines are permitted.

Joe Piccinini, Oreste's restaurant owner and a master chef, travels to his native town of Lucca, Italy, often to keep his fine Italian cuisine current in the Tuscany style of preparing food. Luncheons and dinners are for fine dining, plus a wine cellar with over 200 varieties of both domestic and imported wines, and champagnes. Many banquet rooms for special party occasions . . . When the big hand is on 12 and the little hand is on 5, the big hands of Max Gail play a big welcome on the "88's," which starts the interlude of relaxing transition from the day's turmoil into the excitement of evening — and the transition is known as the Sundown Hour in The Lounge at the Villa Hotel. Hear the familiar strains of your favorite tune (that is, if you thought to tell him what you like the other times you've been in). Max remembers and Max plays. You will enjoy this soothing way to slip into the evening hours.

Joe Piccinini

THE ROMANTIC "Voice and Guitar of Edmundo Rivan" is a regular Monday evening attraction at the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto. The young balladeer from Santiago, Chile, sings in several languages and is considered a "sure-fire" candidate for top stardom.

Jerry Barber, the Park Avenue Tours Midas, hosted a dinner party at The Moonraker in Pacifica, this week, and raved to owner Nick Gust over their Continental meals of Medallions of Beef Tenderloin and Veal Saltimbucco. A la carte entrees are served with tossed green salad and potato. After - dinner cocktails were enjoyed in the lounge while watching huge waves break on the illuminated shoreline just steps away from the restaurant . . . If you're vacationing this summer in South Lake Tahoe, Barney's Casino operates the only courtesy bus service to and from the club, for the convenience of motel patrons. Special escalator service from one floor level to the other, plus breakfast, lunch, dinner and late-night dining. Service 24 hours a day . . . When a big holiday falls on a Sunday, you can count on Vince Licata "pulling the shades" of his Italian and Seafood restaurant in order to spend the day with his family—and Easter Sunday was no exception.—But the restaurant is back on it's busy schedule of catering to big appetities . . . Famed fashion designer Richard Tam hosted an intimate dinner party at Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's Marina District, for three lady friends—each of whom was wearing his latest creations.

On stage of Nero's Nook at the Cabana Hyatt House in Palo Alto through April 18, will be "Mr. Brown and Company," who will entertain with ballads, rock, jazz, blues, bossa nova and almost every other musical style. The four-member group includes pianist-Director Jim Brown, lovely vocalist Tressa Lewis, bassist Edgar Williams, and Stan Popper, percussionists . . . Tenor Rex Schrader is currently featured at the Bocce Ball in North Beach, offering operatic entertainment nightly from 8:45 p.m. . . . Kitty's Coffee Shop, a cozy, little spot on Mission Street hosted by Kitty and Louis Allen, specializes in warm hospitality and "San Francisco's greatest hamburgers." Drop in for a chat . . . Bob Surabian, popular Bay Area pianist, is applauded Monday through Friday at the piano-bar of Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn for his specialty numbers and request tunes . . . The Costantino Brothers will soon open the new dining room and cocktail lounge of their Tino's European restaurant in San Mateo. Also under construction is the expansion of the kitchen. Tino's has become so flourishing that the enlarged facility was a must to take care of their ever-growing clientele.

South Tahoe Nugget One Of The Most Progressive

The South Tahoe Nugget, one of the "biggest little casinos on Lake Tahoe's South Shore," and now under the management of Louis Chartrand, general manager, has shown a striking amount of progress. Remodeled and expanded, the club affords a new dining room (seating 300) which features an "all you can eat" buffet for $1.46, and all types of gambling. During the peak season, an imitation cable car carries patrons between the South Tahoe Nugget and Barney's Club, located a little over a mile away. "If you haven't visited the South Tahoe Nugget recently you will be surprised at all the new facilities," said Lou Chartrand . . . Pizzas are served piping hot out of the ovens of Enrico Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Romano oversees the making of each pizza and makes certain nothing is skimped on . . . Organbar patrons who sit in on vocals at Baron's Lounge are sure of applause—no matter in what key they sing. After each song organist Margie Brandon holds up a card which reads "Applaud."

Frothy And Flavorful, Milk Punches Bring A Special Charm To Spring

A frothy and flavorful milk punch will bring a special charm to the many parties, showers and meetings to be held this spring and summer.

Milk punches are elegantly appropriate for showers of any kind, sophisticated enough for every buffet or meeting, and delicious (and good for them, too) enough for every children's party.

Dairy Council of California home economists have come up with some delicious milk concoctions and some special serving ideas that will delight every guest.

To serve the creamy milk punches, Dairy Council suggests that special attention be paid to the punch bowl and its decoration. Any unique idea such as a hanging punch bowl or colored ice surrounding the punch bowl will make your party seem extra-special. Fresh flowers or any of the latest in flower art can be used to give your punch bowl the fresh and colorful look so essential for any successful party.

The punch bowl itself need not be the standard glass bowl. Almost any large container can find itself serving in the spot of honor — as the punch bowl.

Why, even the common plastic dishpan or bucket when adorned with flowers and ribbon and filled with a foamy milk punch will be well received. And, if it is a bridal shower, the bride-to-be could be given the "punch bowl" after the shower. If it is a baby shower, the punch bowl could be a decorated baby bath tub that is later presented to the monther-to-be.

A large bowl, tureen or kettle can also be converted into a practical "gift punch bowl" or your own unique way of serving punch.

Milk punches served in any type of container are sure to please the guest of honor and all the rest. These punches, rich in fresh whole milk and ice cream or sherbet, offer unbeatable enjoyment as well as quality nutrients.

Here are some delicious punch recipes from the Dairy Council of California.

Strawberry Blossom Punch

This pink-fruited punch is suitable for every occasion. It gets its unqiue flavor from the honey and the almond flavoring.

1 quart (4 cups) cold milk
1-3 cup honey
2 cups crushed fresh strawberries
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 quart vanilla or strawberry ice cream
1 quart lemon-lime soda or giner ale (optional)

Combine milk, honey, strawberries, almond extract and one pint of the ice cream. Blend with rotary beater, blender or electric mixer. Pour into punch bowl. Float small scoops of ice cream in the mixture. For a "bubbly" punch, add one quart lemon-lime soda or ginger ale. Makes 20-28 (4 oz.) servings.

Pastel Punch

This pale yellow-light green punch is beautiful when served in a bowl surrounded by daisies or tinted carnations. You can make Pastel Punch "go pink" simply by adding strawberry or raspberry sherbet instead of the lime sherbet.

1 (6 oz.) can frozen orange juice concentrate
1 (6 oz.) can cold water
¼ cup sugar
Dash of salt
4 cups (1 quart) cold milk
1 quart lime sherbet
1 quart ginger ale.

Combine orange juice, water, sugar and salt. Gradually add milk and stir to mix. Add scoops of lime sherbet to milk mixture. Then, gently add the giner ale. Makes 24 (4 oz.) servings.

Spring "LOVE" Punch

Just as its name implies, "Spring Love Punch" is sure to spark a love affair between the guests and the punch bowl. This delightful concoction will cheer the hearts of young and old alike.

3 cups fresh strawberries
Dash of salt
2 quarts cold milk
1 quart strawberry ice cream
1 quart mint ice cream
1 quart ginger ale (optional)

Mash strawberries; add sugar and salt and blend. Put in punch bowl and add cold milk, stirring until thoroughly mixed. Top with scoops of strawberry and mint ice cream.

Immediately before serving, pour over ginger ale, if desired. Garnish with whole or sliced strawberries. Makes 32-40 (4-oz.) servings.

Or, you can top the punch with ice cream hearts, flowers, etc. Slice bricks of ice cream about 1" thick. Cut out shapes with a cookie cutter or knife dipped in water. This can be done in advance and the ice cream "cut-outs" frozen on a tray, ready to be floated in the punch.

Fluffy Pineapple Punch

This beautiful light yellow punch seems especially appropriate for that very special bridal shower. Float circles of pineapple—"wedding rings"—on top, if desired.

1 (6 oz.) can frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
2 quarts cold milk
Dash of salt
¼ cup sugar
Few drops of yellow food coloring
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ teaspoon vanilla

Place thawed pineapple juice concentrate in punch bowl. Gradually stir in milk, salt and ⅛ cup of the sugar. Mix well. Add yellow coloring to desired tint. Whip cream until it holds soft peaks; fold in remaining sugar and vanilla. Fold whipped cream gently into the punch. To serve, keep punch bowl very cold by surrounding with crushed ice. Makes about 18 (4 oz.) servings.

If you freeze your own ice, tint the water a bright yellow with food coloring before freezing.

MOLDED PINEAPPLE CARROT SALAD

1 package (3 ounces) lemon-flavor gelatin

1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup grated (medium-fine) carrots, lightly packed
Salad greens and sour cream

Dissolve the gelatin and salt in the boiling water. Add pineapple, including syrup, and the lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened; fold in carrots. Turn into ½ cup molds or custard cups. Chill until set. Unmold. Garnish with salad greens and top with sour cream. Makes 6 servings.

Raisins—Oldest Convenience Food Now Joins Convenience Mixes

The world's oldest convenience food is all mixed up with the newest convenience foods. You can find California raisins in the rice mixes, raisins in the store-bought breads, in hot and cold cereals, in baking mixes and in the ready-to-go refrigerated salads.

With one eye open, you can stir up some raisin breakfast puffs. These biscuit mixes were simply destined for raisins, a little brown sugar and spice.

For lunch, packaged raisin bread stacks up with corned beef and cheese for a hale and hearty sandwich. Substantial proof that this bread is not tea party stuff. Nor is the chicken dish which is richly Oriental with a sweet-sour tang to be served over snowy rice.

This month brings National Raisin Week (April 26-May 2). You can use them around the clock and around the year. Any time is time for raisins from the San Joaquin Valley, so keep a box handy. A handful makes a great-energy-boosting snack.

RAISIN BREAKFAST PUFFS

¾ cup California dark seedless raisins
2 cups buscuit mix
2-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening, melted
3 tablespoons brown sugar, packed
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Stir raisins into biscuit mix. Blend in milk and shortening. Mix sugar with cinnamon. Drop dough by tablespoons into sugar mixture. Roll to coat top. Place on greased baking sheet, sugar side up. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Makes 12 puffs.

RAISIN BREAD DUTCH LUNCH STACK-UPS

12 slices raisin bread
Savory butter
12 slices Swiss, jack of cheddar cheese
Crisp lettuce
12 slices corned beef
12 very thin onion rings

Spread raisin bread slices with savory butter. Make 3 decker sandwich for each serving by putting 3 slices buttered riasin bread together with cheese and lettuce for one filling; meat, onion and lettuce for second filling. Press sandwiches lightly together. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Savory butter: Beat together unti smooth: ½ cup butter, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and ¼ easpoon dill weed.

Or use roast beef, ham or luncheon meat.

RAISIN CHICKEN CASABLANCA

1 (3-pound) frying chicken, cut up
¼ cup flour
1¾ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 cup chicken broth
½ cup chicken broth
½ cup dark seedless California raisins
1 cup orange juice
4 teaspoons coarsely grated orange peel
½ teaspoon white wine vinegar

Dredge chicken in flour mixed with 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and paprika. Heat oil and butter in skillet and brown chicken lightly. Turn heat low and cook chicken uncovered, turning occasionally, about 40 minutes or until chicken is tender. Transfer to hot platter and keep warm while preparing sauce. Pour out fat in skillet, returning 1 tablespoon. Mix cornstarch with chicken broth. Add to drippings and cook until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Stir in raisins, orange juice, orange peel, vinegar and ¾ teaspoon salt. Simmer 5 minutes. Pour some of sauce over chicken; serve remainder in sauce boat. Accompany with rice, if desired. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Date Muffin Recipe Is Flavorsome

This muffin recipe boasts the flavors of several western fruits. The California Muscatel, dates and oranges are all grown within a few miles of each other in the warm valleys of the most populous state.

These muffins are especially enjoyable served with chicken salad mounded on crisp greens. Or another suggestion, accompany creamy scrambled eggs with date muffins for an elegant weekend brunch. Frosty glasses of Chablis, Riesling or another white dinner wine from California will further enhance either meal.

DATE MUFFINS
(Makes 12 (3 - inch) muffins)

1 cup dates
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
¼ cup shortening
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 egg
¾ cup thick buttermilk
¼ cup California Muscatel

Topping:

Pit and slice dates into medium-size pieces. Resift flour with sugar, baking powder, salt and soda. Cut in shortening. Add rind and dates. Beat egg lightly and combine with buttermilk and wine. Blend into first mixture, mixing only until all of flour is moistened. Spoon into greased muffin pans and sprinkle with blened topping ingredients. bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes.

CHOCOLATE CREAM CAKE

Sponge cake baked in 10-inch angelfood pan
3 containers (each 8 ounces) heavy cream
3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
¼ cup instant chocolate beverage mix
2 large eggs
¼ cup canned chocolate syrup

Cut cake in 3 horizontal layers. In a large bowl, beat cream until it holds soft peaks. In a small bowl, without washing beater, beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add sugar, chocolate mix and chocolate syrup and beat vigorously to blend; add a large spoonful of the whipped cream and beat to blend. Add chocolate mixture to whipped cream and beat gently—just enough to blend and stiffen. Use chocolate cream filling to fill and frost cake. Makes 16 servings.

WITH A MIGHTY LEAP and a tiny "Hi Ho Rozinantis . . . awaaay," the Lone Protagonist rides again!

You will recall two years ago we left the Lone Protagonist with his faithful politician - friend "Duffer" trying to solve the mystery of the local politicial scene following a quick 18 holes and lunch at a well-known country club.

☆ ☆ ☆

THE LONE PROTAGONIST speaks:

"Well, Duffer, here it is All Fools Day once again— the day fools rush in where Angels fear to tread. Let's get right down to the serious business of picking winners in the local elections.

"Let see now Lone Protagonist, how about . . . on second thought I remember the time he made you pay for your own lunch and he hasn't been all that great in the 'promises, promises department' either."

"Good thinking, Duffer. I'd better rule out this seasoned veteran of the political arena too, after seeing some of the dives he's taken in the past four years. He just doesn't jump for ANYONE anymore, no matter how hard they snap their fingers."

☆ ☆ ☆

"PARDON ME, LP, but the list is getting mighty short, why don't we just forget the whole thing and stick with those that are well entrenched—win, lose or draw? At the rate we're going there won't be anyone left to choose from. I was thinking of the Old Days, before you rode off fighting those political windmills."

"Duffer you've got a lot to learn! It may appear that I was riding through a ghost village fighting windmills, but actually those weren't ghosts I was swinging at—they were skeletons."

"What's the difference?"

"Duffer, Old Friend, you can see through ghosts, but a skeleton is another matter. One has to hide them in closets and from what I've heard there are a lot of skeletons in a lot of closets around town."

"In other words, LP, we're looking for a candidate that can win and who has no skeletons in his closet and no political strings attached and has never done anything to harm anyone and lives only to serve the citizens who elect him and keeps every promise he ever made . . ."

"What are you some kinda nut? If we did that we'd have to go back 1970 years to find a candidate to support. No, I'm afraid we'll have to work with what we have and let the Old American system of free elections take over. The field has a score of folks in Daly City alone Hell bent for election and I feel that once we get past the frosting we'll get to the cake."

☆ ☆ ☆

"EXACTLY WHAT DO you mean by that 'Frosting' remark, LP?"

"Tell you the truth, Duffer, I haven't figured it out myself yet. It's just a phrase I recently coined. Without further adieu let me offer my predictions on the outcome of some local races, remembering Old Friend, I pride myself on having a perfect score in this guessing game."

"By gosh, you're right, LP. If memory serves me you guessed a landslide victory for Dewey over Truman; Stevenson over Ike and Brown smashing that movie star fella in the governor's race. Oh, that shook 'em, all right!"

"Pay the check, Duffer, Old Friend, and leave a nice tip for the caddy. After all, you are on a monthly retainer."

DALY CITY — Ten candidates vying for three slots. Incumbents Bernard Lycett and Michael DeBernardi. Edward J. Dennis retired.

First and second spots seesawing between Lycett and challenger Louis J. Papan. Lycett has been selected by his fellow councilmen to be mayor for the past three years—a post normally rotated annually. Papan is a former FBI agent and local businessman who first came on the scene political two years ago.

Third place is the BIG BATTLE being fought between two candidates: McRobert (Mac) Stewart and Dino H. Tonelli, the latter coming on like a house afire. Stewart has entered the arena before and, like Tonelli, is a former Planning Commissioner.

A slight edge is now held by Tonelli, but Stewart may pull this one through at the last minute. Make that crow well done, please.

What of incumbent councilman Micheal R. De Bernardi who has beeen on the council for the past 16 years? Our Ouija board spells out his defeat, placing behind attorney and current JESD trustee Bill Schumacher.

☆ ☆ ☆

NOW OVER TO the hamlet of South City, home of many windmills and lotsa wind to keep 'em running. Slashing through the frosting (we kinda like that word) we see two seats open and Ed Toby easing out incumbent Patrick Ahern. Also battling his way into the Official Family we predict Bill Borba. Make that a double order of crow, please.

☆ ☆ ☆

MEANWHILE, Over in the shadow of San Francisco's county jail in San Bruno we spot incumbents Karney Barberian, Neil Christal and George Ingham retaining their comfy seats, but not before challenger Dick Griffith shakes them up rather badly. Such a battle has never been fought like that one.

☆ ☆ ☆

DOWN THE COASTSIDE we nod knowledgeably as incumbents Nick Gust and Harland Minshew share the winner's circle with Stanley M. Farber.

☆ ☆ ☆

IF WE'RE RIGHT we'll be amazed and will accept your congratulations. On the other hand if we're wrong forget it.

Afterall, why should we ruin a perfect score!

FOR HONESTY, for justice and for just plain goodness, the Lone Protagonist rides again (see Frank LaPierre's column) after a two year wait. On his faithful steed "Rozinantis" and armed with his favorite weapon (a golf club), LaPierre rides through Daly City in search of windmills to joust. The best he could find during this political year was a couple of windbags.

Recommendations Of The Post . . . WHY?

So. San Francisco

Recommendation for Edward Toby to be elected a councilman in South San Francisco is not made without acknowledging the fact there is a fine field of candidates.

Edward Toby is the best choice. He is young, vibrant and concerned. He has pinpointed definite problems and offered specific solutions.

Toby comes from a section of the city, Westborough, that is rapidly developing into an integral part of the community.

At the age of 34, he is a vice president of an industrial firm in the "Industrial City." It is a position that necessitates the ability to review recommendations and come up with appropriate decisions.

Chosen repeatedly by South San Francisco voters to represent them in city government is veteran Councilman Patrick Ahern. Experience and his detailed knowledge of South San Francisco should qualify him for re-election to the post he has held for a dozen years.

The Post endorses Edward Toby for councilman in belief that he will thoroughly study the city's problems and apply his best judgment in arriving at solutions that will benefit all South San Francisco. It endorses Patrick Ahern because experienced incumbents should be credited with the service they have rendered.

Pacifica

The choice of candidates in Pacifica-where unrelenting growth has begun to produce a severe financial burden, should be based on a belief that experience, not change, is what the scenic, coastal community needs most.

In two-time Mayor Nick Gust and in former Mayor Harland Minshew there is that experience. In candidate Stanley Farber is also found local government experience, derived from membership on the Laguna Salada School District Board of Trustees.

All three, by virtue of these government affiliations, have faced painful problems of finance that growth has required.

Gust is a hard worker as a city councilman and a citizen of his community. He says what he thinks; pushes hard for what he believes.

Minishew is more quiet, yet no less sincere. He and Gust don't always see eye-to-eye, but their stature probably would be less if they did.

Farber similarly is as dedicated to his civic activities and elected position.

He's worked and led diligently and earnestly for education in his community and deserves an opportunity to give another Pacifica government area the benefit of his alert drive and vigor.

The other 11 candidates in the Pacifica campaign obviously represent many varying, impressive skills.

However, best choice demands experience as well as vitality at a time when Pacifica needs such a combination.

San Bruno

Three seats are open in the San Bruno City Council race and it is wise recommendation that the three incumbents be retained.

San Bruno city government is a smooth, efficient operation. Policy decisions have benefited the city and its residents. Residents with a grievance get prompt and courteous attention.

Incumbent Councilman Karney Barberian sets the pace. It is no facetious statement when he lists his occupation as "city councilman." He would be an asset to any city, because he is, in the true sense of the word, a "fulltime" councilman.

Neil Christal, present mayor, has served the city well. He has the innate ability to handle any situation with calm assuredness, and to the satisfaction of all.

Incumbent George Ingham is the quiet one. But that's just on the surface. He absorbs all that is said, takes time to check things out, and then votes.

So although the challengers are impressive and capable, The Post recommends going with the proven three.

Daly City

The leadership that incumbent councilman Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett has displayed during his tenure as a representative of the people of Daly City is best exemplified in the fact that his fellow councilmen have voted to retain him as their mayor on three occasions.

It is understood that when a councilman accepts his post he will devote whatever time is necessary to this office and to the city's citizenry who look to him for leadership. Lycett has far exceeded these demands on his time and has spoken out time and again for what he believes is best for his city and its residents.

Louis J. Papan is not a new face on the Daly City political scene. Two years ago he felt the council needed new vigor and ideas and waged a strong campaign against the two incumbents, and lost.

A successful local real estate and insurance broker, the former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent has renewed his promises to bring new ideas and vigor to City Hall.

His vow to "go anywhere at anytime to represent my fellow citizens" has an appeal to those residents who voice increasing frustration over the complexities of government.

Former Daly City Planning Commissioner McRobert (Mac) Stewart has devoted much of his free time to furthering civic and youth programs and to the overall betterment of Daly City. The list of organizations he has served on is long and includes the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Community Resources Commission, helping youth at the Glenwood Boy's Ranch.

Stewart's knowledge of Daly City is thorough. He is familiar with virtually every neighborhood and knows the people and their problems. If elected he would bring this knowledge to the City Council, much the same as he did as a Planning Commissioner two years ago.

In recommending the election of these three candidates, Bernard J. Lycett, Louis J. Papan. and McRobert Stewart, to the Daly City Council, The Post is moved by belief that they will bring experience, knowledge, vigor and fresh idealism to the service of local citizens.

The 'Old Gang'

By JAMES HALLEY

Age improves good whiskey. It is also thought to increase the value of paintings and other works of art. Passage of time often marks the difference between junk and antiques. Whether age improves congressman is a subject of doubt.

The antiquity of current congressional leadership is impressive. Speaker John McCormack is pack leader and his vitality is known by all who have observed his vigorous contenance on television. Emanual Celler, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, was born in 1888. William Colmer, chairman of the Rules Committee, was 80 this year.

Soon festivities will mark the birthday of William Dawson, chairman of the Committee on Government Operations. He will be 84 on the 26th of April. On this happy occasion, Dawson can recall that life began at 40 for him during Calvin Coolidge's presidency.

For those who might think this active group is unique, we can turn to a gaggle of septuagenarians: John L. McMillan, chairman of the district committe, Wright Patman, chairman of the Banking and Currency Commitee, William Robert (Bob Poage, Agriculture Committee chirman, Wayne Aspinall, chairman of Interior and Insula Affairs, Samuel Friedel, chairman, House Administration committee, George Miller, chairman of the Science and Aeronautics Committee, and George Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, who will be 70 this year.

These men are products of the seniority system which decrees that if a congressman lasts long enough, he will rise to the top. A popular Washington quip has it that the longer you are around, the more you like the seniority system.

Seniority is not something devised by devious agents of a foreign power hoping to slow down the United States. Our elected representatives thought of it all by themselves. It has been operating in the Senate for over 120 years, and in the House for more than six decades. No other legistlative body, here or abroad has adopted the system as practiced in Congress.

The seniority system is not founded in law or even House rules. While the rules speak of "rank," there appears to be no binding obligation in the House of Representatives that compels the selection of senior members as committee chairmen. But people in groups often act more foolishly than men act as individuals, and congressmen are no exception. For decades, members of both parties have dutifully parcelled out power to the weary. In this day, we have cast aside most artificial distinctions that unfairly elevate some men deter others. Yet in the world's most democratically elected body, a discriminatory practice is pursued past the point of common sense. With 435 members, the longest in service can be very old indeed, and the ages of chairman mentioned in this article would not be considered surprising by any respected actuary who understood the criteria for elevation.

There is nothing inherently wrong with the election of elderly congressmen. Their experience is valuable and wisdom is certainly not the exclusive property of youth. Some of the present chairmen would doubtless survive under any system. But these men would have some claim to merit and popularity, not merely time and service.

So, change is needed. The current means of selection is so poor that almost any rational plan would be better. Many alternatives have been suggested, including rotation among committee chairmen and appointments by the speaker. In a democratic body, some kind of elective device seems best. Election from the floor or selection by some kind of committee might work. But, the superior alternatives seem to be election by secret ballot by the members of each committee or secret election by party caucus.

Whatever the means used, we can all rejoice when that old gang of ours is finally broken up.

'Humbug And Heroes'

JIM BECKWORTH was part white and part black — in spirit he was closer to an Indian than to either. In 1823 he ran away from a Missouri blacksmith and joined the Rocky Mountain Fur Company. Twenty-eight years later he led a group of settlers over the Sierra Nevadas into California. Hs trail has become a thoroughfare named Beckworth Pass.

Among the group was a girl who was destinated to become famous under a different name. Josephine Donna Smith, a niece of the Mormon prophet, Joseph Smith, changed her name to Ina Coolbrith and went on to become California's poet laureate.

A biography of Jim Beckworth and references to Ina Coolbrith are part of Richard Dillon's new book "Humbugs and Heroes." here are sixty-three biographies of some of the most interesting figures in California history.

Among them is an account of a native son whose name was Amadeo Peter Giannini — Thirty-four years later he set out to establish a bank that would give as much consideration to a poor man as to a magnate.

☆ ☆ ☆

DURING THE 1906 EARTHQUAKE and fire he threw his entire cash reserve into a pair of produce wagons and escaped from the burning city to San Mateo, where he hid the gold in the ashpit of his fireplace because he did not have a safe. A few days later he set up his Bank of Italy behind a plank on two barrels on the Washington Street Wharf. Thus providing a spark that helped to rebuild San Francisco — From the beginning the Bank of America grew into the huge corporation it is today.

"Humbugs and Heroes" gives the stories of some of California's most prominent politicians, military men, captains of industry, and of some of the state's most infamous thieves, imposters and failures. Each person included was chosen because of the effectiveness of the individual in changing California for better or worse, by his presence.

☆ ☆ ☆

THE AUTHOR, Richard Dillon, is one of the candidates for inclusion in such a book. He is a stimulating individual, who manages three careers in one—author, librarian, historian. His previous books have won him the Order of Merit of the California Historical Society and both the Silver Medal and the Gold Medal of the Commonwealth Club of California.

"Humbugs and Heroes" is an easy, pleasant, book to read, an informative book to study.

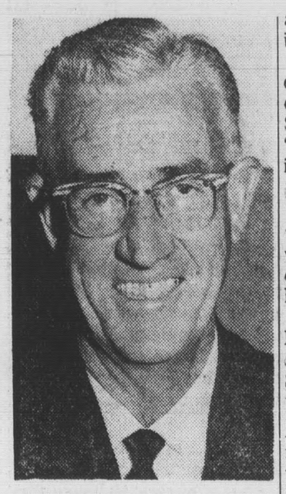
South San Francisco Candidate Summary



Patrick Ahern

PATRICK AHERN is 53 and the incumbent.

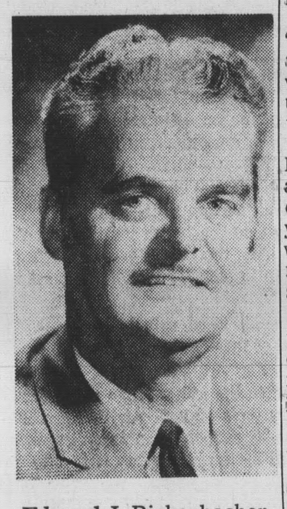
He is basing his re-election on his past 12 years on the council, four of them as mayor.

"During this period," says Ahern, "I participated in and contributed to the following accomplishments: The tax rate reduction from $1.54 to 91 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the new library and emergency operating center, the Oyster Point Marina, the joint sewer plant modification to relieve bay pollution, and street and other public works projects including island beautification."

He also cited Orange Avenue Park swimming pool construction, public safety employes incentive pay plan, the Westborough 10 and 2½-acre parks, the Westborough fire station, the Martin School park and industrial and residential expansion with new aesthetic design.

Ahern has served as a member of the North County Council of Cities for his 12 years, one year as chairman. He served as alternate member of the Local Agency Formation Commission, a member of the County Council of Mayors Regional Planning Committee and County Waste Disposal Steering Committee.

The incumbent also is chairman of the city's beautification committee.



Edward J. Rickenbacher

EDWARD (ED) J. RICKENBACHER is 47 and a real estate and insurance broker.

A resident of the city for 20 years, he has been in the real estate business for ten years.

"I believe that I can give the leadership, get results and bring representation to all the people in South San Francisco," says Rickenbacher.

He has been president of the South San Francisco Kiwanis Club, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis' California, Nevada, Hawaii District 17, and division chairman of the boys' and girls' programs for California, Nevada, Hawaii District of Kiwanis. He is a former deputy sheriff of San Francisco.

Rickenbacher also is a member of the South San Francisco clean-up campaign, a committee member of the South San Francisco capital improvement program, past president of the South San Francisco Managers' Association and arbitration chairman of the multiple listing service of San Francisco.

Antonio Montoya

ANTONIO MONTOYA is 44 and a senior hydro designer and instructor.

"I have always been interested in the progress and welfare of my city," says the 18-year South San Francisco resident, "and will work toward expediting and implementation of present city projects."

He says he also will work toward bringing new projects that will benefit the youth and senior citizens, and will work on relieving the tax burden of senior

Montoya is a member of the Economic Opportunity Commission of San Mateo County, the South San Francisco Community Action Council, a member of the Spanish-speaking Advisory Board to the Fair Employment Practices Commission of the State of California, a member of PACE Forum and Mater Dolorosa Men's Club.

Activities also include board member for Boy Scout Troop 291, membership in the Morelos Society, vice president of the Mexican-American Unity Council, on the Inter-Relation Committee of the South San Francisco Unified School District, a member of the Selective Service Board, sustained membership chairman of the Girl Scouts and the Police Athletic League Boosters' Club membership.

Terry Mirri

TERRY MIRRI is 25 and a management trainee.

He says South San Francisco, "like municipalities throughout the country," is looking for individuals who are responsible, educated and possess the potential to effect good local government.

"I think having attained a B.S. degree in political science at the University of San Francisco, and approximately one year of law school at the University of the Pacific, qualifies me as one of these individuals," says Mirri.

"However, education is but a useless piece of paper if the individual is incapable of communicating to his constitutents the policies and philosophy he represents, and must consequently defend."

Mirri's philosophy puts heavy stress on unifying all sections of South San Francisco.

"I have participated in several speech and debate forums. I enjoy oral presentation and rapport with the public. It is this ability, coordinated with the appropriate educational background," says Mirri, "that will allow me to represent the City of South San Francisco in a clear and articulate manner."

William Borba

WILLIAM A. BORBA is 57 and a local manufacturer.

He has resided in South San Francisco for 49 years, attended its schools and worked in the city. He has been engaged in his present business, as president of Borba Manufacturing, Inc., for 20 years. Borba also is owner of Flippo Manufacturing Company.

"I feel my knowledge of civic affairs and business experience has equipped me for the city council," says Borba.

He points to his activities as a federal housing commissioner, president of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, president of Police Athletic League Boosters' Club and current chairman for the March of Dimes, plus membership on the board of directors of several other organizations to emphasize his credentials.

"I have been a friend of labor," adds Borba. "I believe in well-planned industrial growth, the maintenance of our low city tax rate, proper preparation for capital improvements and conclusive planning regarding flood control and garbage disposal roblems."

Gordon Boblitt

GORDON BOBLITT is 44 and a businessman.

A resident of the city for 20 years, he is president of a heavy construction firm.

Boblitt says he is "a businessman active in civic affairs." He is a member of the city's planning commission, and has been for the past six years, one year as its chairman.

"I have actively participated in a number of city council meetings and have a thorough understanding of the functions and operations of our local government," says Boblitt. "Presently, I serve as a member of the capital improvement committee, which screens future expenditures of public funds for major municipal projects."

Boblitt also has been the city representative to the San Mateo County Regional Planning Board for apprxoimately three years.

He has been an officer of the P-TA, and for ten years has served as a committeeman for the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of America.

Edward Toby

EDWARD TOBY is 34 and a businessman.

He is vice president and machine design engineer for Toby Enterprises in South San Francisco.

"I have participated in the civic affairs of South San Francisco as a resident, businessman and homeowners' representative for eight years," says Toby.

"In the past four years, however, I have shared the growing frustration of many citizens over city's continued lack of response to their needs and problems."

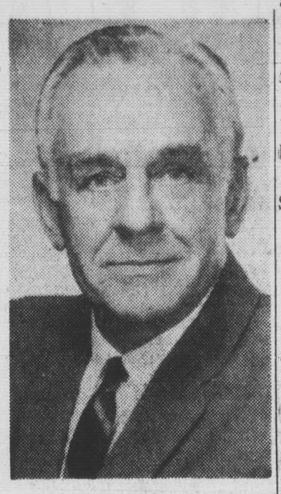
Toby says his experience as a business executive and corporate board member will enable him to effectively participate in the management of the $8 million city budget.

"However, the most important qualification for any office is still the ability and willingness to openly study problems and apply one's best judgment to their solution.

"I am running for city council," says Toby, "because I believe people must be willing to contribute their time and abilities if we are to expect responsive government.

"I feel we must return to citizen government, where council represents and acts for all the people instead of their own special interests."

Candidates In Bruno Contest



George Ingham

GEORGE INGHAM is 57 and retired.

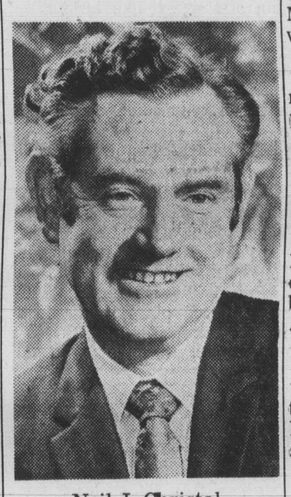
San Bruno has been home for this incumbent councilman for the past 18 years. He's been a councilman, incidentally, for the past five years.

Citing his record, Ingham says, "I've promoted our flood control project, addition to the city hall, widening of College Drive, Jenevein Avenue, First Avenue and Sneath Lane and the building of the badly needed new corporation yard, all without resorting to bond financing."

Ingham, former owner of George's Auto Supply and former postmaster, also served as chamber of commerce director and city planning commissioner for five years.

He supports the city-owned cable television service as a means to help defray property taxes, and actively supported Tanforan Shopping Center, annexation of the airport property, and approved the large commercial projects.

"Our beautification program speaks for itself," says Ingham. "I hope my effort is deserving of continued support, and a vote of confidence will assure continued progress for San Bruno," adds the incumbent.



Neil J. Christal

NEIL J. CHRISTAL IS 48 and an attorney.

The incumbent mayor is running on his record, saying, If re-elected I will continue the practice of always having an open office door for any complaints or suggestions."

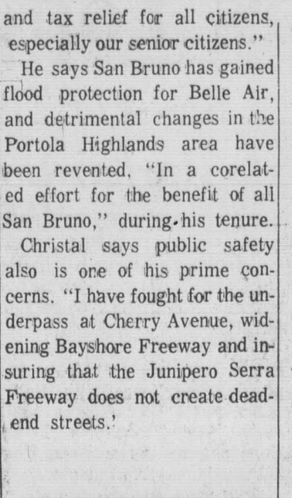
Christal has served as mayor twice during his eight years on the council.

"As an individual, I have been involved in our immediate environment, having personally planted over 1,000 trees in San Bruno, aiding youth projects, and directing the San Bruno Rams," says Christal.

"I advocate increased neighborhood recreational programs and tax relief for all citizens, especially our senior citizens."

He says San Bruno has gained flood protection for Belle Air, and detrimental changes in the Portola Highlands area have been revented. "In a corelated effort for the benefit of all San Bruno," during his tenure.

Christal says public safety also is one of his prime concerns. "I have fought for the underpass at Cherry Avenue, widening Bayshore Freeway and insuring that the Junipero Serra Freeway does not create dead-end streets.'



Robert D. Price

ROBERT D. PRICE is 58 and a real estate broker and appraiser, and insurance agent.

Price also is a former city councilman seeking to regain a seat on the council. He was city councilman from 1954 to 1964, serving as mayor in 1957-58-59 and 1963-64.

"Sensitivity to the people's wishes is very important," says Price, adding, "My lengthy residence in this city and knowledge of San Bruno problems can be put to good use."

From 1964 to 1968, Price was a tax appraiser for the state controller's office, on the San Mateo County Panel. He also was a member of the 1968 San Mateo County Grand Jury.

Other government - type experience includes membership on police, fire, recreation commissions.

Price is a member at large of the property tax sub-committee of the California Real Estate Association, a member of the legislative committee of the North San Mateo County Board of Realtors, an associate member of the American Society of Appraisers and the Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

The former councilman also was president and co-founder of the San Bruno Rams Boys Athletic Club and assistant commissioner of the mid-Peninsula Pop Warner Football League.

Memberships include the South San Francisco Elks Lodge, the International Footprinters and Peninsula Chapter 35 of the Fryers Club.

More Post Political News On Page 30

Richard Griffith

RICHARD GRIFFITH is 50 and a postal window clerk.

Griffith, a constant critic of the city council, says, "The key to city government serving all people is to end the caucus that now precedes each council meeting.

"Building contractors and scavenger firm agents often seek consensus agreements there without appearing at the public meetings which follow," says Griffith.

"I have successfully appealed to the state attorney general on meeting," says the candidate. "I would propose conducting all public business in the big meeting hall. Thus we may avert further deterioration of environment caused by clandestine catering to private greed."

Griffith also is proposing the saving of open spaces by not over densifying with apartments. He wants to deliver the water, garbage collection and cable television services at cost.

"Utility profiteering gives windfalls to commercial property taxpayers and penalizes homeowners," says Griffith.

The council candidate, a retired Naval lieutenant, also is a postal health benefits official, a former cost accountant and president of the Peninsula Postal Employes Council (AFL-CIO).

Theodore Long

THEODORE H. LONG is 31 and an attorney.

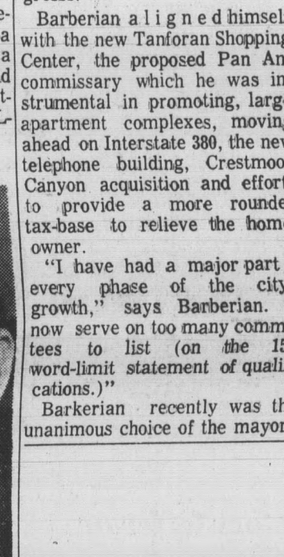
"I have long been active in serving the city and acting as a spokesman for many of its citizens," says Long. "As such, I will offer an intelligent common sense approach to our common and special problems."

Long, a member of the city's personnel board, is a homeowner's association past president and has done graduate work in public administration.

He is past national vice president of the American Bar Association and currently advisor to the bar association president on student involvement and campus unrest.

The council candidate also points to a five-year background in environmental control and as a corporate officer says, "I have the administrative background to direct economic and legislative decisions."

His memberships also include the San Francisco Bar Association's legal medical committee, former director of the California conference of law schools and national delegate to two annual meetings.



Karney Barberian

KARNEY BARBERIAN is 58, an incumbent, and lists his occupation as "city councilman."

"It's been a privilege and an honor for me during a 12-year career of public service as recreation and planning commissioner, councilman, mayor and vice mayor dedicating myself to community service," says Barberian.

"I seek re-election to continue working for the best interest of all the people, and to complete the many projects now in progresss."

Barberian aligned himself with the new Tanforan Shopping Center, the proposed Pan Am commissary which he was instrumental in promoting, large apartment complexes, moving ahead on Interstate 380, the new telephone building, Crestmoor Canyon acquisition and efforts to provide a more rounded tax-base to relieve the homeowner.

"I have had a major part in every phase of the city's growth," says Barberian. "I now serve on too many committees to list (on the 150-word-limit statement of qualifications.)"

Barkerian recently was the unanimous choice of the mayors and councilmen of the county to represent the county, and San Bruno, on the airport rapid transit commission.

"If again honored by your vote," says Barberian, "I shall continue to devote my time, energy and experience to serve the city."

Anthony Governale

ANTHONY S. GOVERNALE is 40 and a businessman.

A park and recreation commissioner for three years, one as chairman, he resigned that post to run for the council.

"Since 1957, I have worked with and for my fellow citizens, homeowners and businessmen," says Governale. "I am dedicated to serving both our young and senior citizens. If elected, I shall work for a San Bruno that thrives as a community, not merely survives as a suburb."

Achievements cited during his tenure on the park and recreation commission during his tenure on the park and recreation commission include the city's first teen center, the first city-sponsored art show, first city-sponsored little theatre production, first graphic arts program, revitalization of the adult arts and crafts program, the proposed county financing of an indoor swimming pool for San Bruno and actively leading opposition to after-school recreation fees.

Govenale has a list of goals, if elected. These include utilizing the new Tanforan Center and the cable television revenues toward a reduction of property taxes.

Also, the restoring of a healthy downtown business climate, protecting the natural beauty of the city, as in Crestmoor Canyon, the re-establishing of a strong recreation agreement with the elementary school district and accelerating capital improvements.

Crestmoor, Burlingame Track Teams To Meet

By RON REID
Post Sports Writer

Crestmoor High School survived a scare, Burlingame continued awesomely and San Mateo staged the best pole vault in Northern California.

Along with esser phenomena, that's what happened Thursday in the second week of dual meet competition of Mid-Peninsula League track teams, whose unbeaten number should be reduced no later than next Thursday.

That's when Crestmoor (2-0) takes on Burlingame (2-0) in the season's most critical match - up for each as far as title ambitions go. Off yesterday's performances, it would appear the greatest pressure rests on the Falcons.

Crestmoor, obviously off its feed for reasons of flu and a 440 relay injury, barely survived an impressive upset try by Aragon, the most unsung aggregation in the MPL, before clinching a narrow 70-66 victory with the mile relay.

In other MPL duals, Burlingame ran roughshod over the Mills Vikings, 91-45, and San Mateo won its first meet of the year at Capuchino's expense, 85-51.

Aragon's formidable opposition to their favored foe was led by Steve Boschetti, the Dons' veteran weightman who came through with lifetime best performances in both the shot and discus. Boschetti got a 51-3½ mark in the shot, which is the best in the MPL this year, and augmented it with a 154-0½ discus toss for a new school record. His previous bests were 48-11 and 140-0, respectively.

Crestmoor stayed in the fight, however, off another superb sprint double by Chuck Bommarito, who clocked 9.9 for the 100 and 21.8, for the second successive week, in the 220. Steve Bule also contributed a double victory for the Falcons with a 51.5 quarter and a 21-3½ long jump.

It was Gary Hicklin who saved Crestmoor, however, with a gutty mile relay anchor leg that overcame a three-yard deficit and Aragon's 66-65 lead.

Burlingame unleashed its formidable depth on the Vikings for another league triumph that came breezingly. Sophomore hurdler Brett Johnson, who doubled with respective marks of 15.3 and 20.6 (which isn't bad for a senior) led the Panther assault. Other impressive Burlingame efforts were turned in by Gary Hafley, a 20-5½ winner in the long jump, Tom Creighton's 51.4 quartermile, and a mile relay foursome that clocked 3:29.4.

A Rest For The Hitters As Hurlers Do Homework

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Sports Writer

Pitchers in the North Peninsula League apparently used the Easter vacation break to get in a little homework while hitters were content with a restful week's layoff.

Three of the four league games on March 31 featured pitching excellence with Half Moon Bay's Jim Emery and South San Francisco's Pete Enea sharing the spotlight for top individual performances.

Half Moon Bay shut out visiting El Camino High School, 3-0, on Emery's one-hitter while Enea outlasted the Oceana Sharks in a race with the moonlight over Orange Park, 2-1, in 12 hectic innings. Other league action saw Terra Nova just get by a young but clawing Westmoor nine, 3-2, while Jefferson managed its first win of the year, 5-2, over winless Serramonte.

The Cougars' senior lefthander, regarded by many as a top college or pro prospect, came through with a 12-strikeout performance against the Colts while talking three. The Colts' only hit came in the second inning when first baseman Brian Finnlayson blooped a single just past the outstretched arms of second baseman Beetle Bailey. Aside from that one instance, Emery was seldom bothered by Camino.

After trading zeroes for three frames, HMB scored the eventual winning run when first baseman John Ramacciotti singled, went to second on a balk by Camino starter Pete Alexander and scored on a two-out single by Dave Lea, the first of his two hits.

HMB wrapped it up with a two-run sixth inning as Steve Fischer and Ramacciotti hit back-to-back doubles and Chris Anderson's single brought in the final tally.

It was Enea's heroics on the mound and Bruce Collins' antics in right field that enabled the Warriors to win the dozen-inning game against the luckless Sharks, who dropped their second straight extra-inning affair in NPL competition.

Enea pitched a 10-hitter but just kept throwing strikes for 12 frames. He walked just two and struck out eight in besting both Steve Pointer and Mark Fadgen, the latter getting the loss.

South City scored in the first and last innings. In the opening at-bats Leo Bernardini walked and on an ensuing rundown on a steal try advanced to third when a throw hit him in the head and caroomed quickly into centerfield. Brad Dahl's infield grounder brought him in.

Oceana scored in the seventh when Rich Adkisson opened the inning with a rightfield triple and came home when Art Hernandez singled.

With the umpires glancing warily at the dark surroundings, Enea figured things had gone just about far enough. He singled with two out in the 12th and went to second on a wild pitch. Bernardini then smacked a sharp single to left and the marathon ended.

Both teams had numerous scoring chances throughout. Oceana's best shot came in the 11th when, with two out and Hernandez at second, Mario Ortega shot a single into rightfield. Collins, the Warriors' top pitcher, did what came naturally — fired a strike to the plate — this one from about 150 feet further than the usual 60-6, though, to catch Hernandez before he scored, the second time he threw out a Shark runner.

Pointer struck out eight in his eight-inning stint.

Defending Central Coast Section champion Terra Nova continued towards another post-season berth but not before a little scare as the Tigers had to get the tie-breaking run in the last inning

Rams Down Terra Nova Tiger Spikes

A rare Coastside afternoon of sun and zephyr-like breezes on Friday enabled athletes from both Terra Nova and Westmoor to gambol and frolic to some respectable times and distances in a North Peninsula League track meet.

Westmoor's Ken Phelps and Tim Ficken of Terra Nova both managed excellent NPL times in their specialities, the 440 and 220 respectively.

Phelps, who took two first in the Westmoor victory, won his race in 50-flat. Ficken, who added a second place in the long jump, took the 220 in 22.8.

Westmoor won the meet, 76-60.

Oceana High Overwhelmed By Warriors

Despite a gallant two-man effort by a pair of Oceana juniors, South San Francisco's powerful track and field forces overran the Sharks with ease, 100-36, in Pacifica.

The victory for the title-bound Warriors was their second in North Peninsula League action this season.

Oceana's sole bright spots, however, were bright indeed. Ernie Ribera won the 880 in the best mark of the afternoon, 1:59.6. He got some assistance from Larry Kermabon who won the high jump at 5-10 and took two seconds in the 120 high hurdles and the 180 lows.

South San Francisco crushed the Sharks with an awesome display of depth in practically every event.

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

BY THE TIME THIS COLUMN APPEARS, it's very possible that the Giants will have already shipped out third base aspirant Alan Gallagher. Or, perhaps they will have decided to add him to their roster and give him a chance under the pressure of league play. Perhaps no decision will have yet been made.

One thing is certain, however. Gallagher, who had been given at least an outside chance of moving in at the hot corner permanetly this season, has not exactly been a spring sensation. Perhaps there have been mitigating circumstances. Perhaps he has even looked better than the box scores indicate. Either way, not much has been said of Gallagher in the public prints. Maybe he was nasty to a reporter or two. Who knows.

Whether or not Gallagher makes it, though, you can rest assured that the former Daly City resident tried his best. For Gallagher is one of the few young athletes of recent vintage who impressed us as a kid who came to play, as a throw-back to the confident Big City kid of the slick fiction magazine era who wasn't afraid to challenge anybody.

★ ★ ★

GALLAGHER, you may remember, was the first player chosen by the Giants when the new baseball draft rule went into effect in 1965. A Mission High School (San Francisco) and Santa Clara star, Gallagher was living with his mother and father in Daly City when the Giants announced him as their first draft choice. We immediately called his home, that first week in June, and Alan answered, giving us the first exclusive interview with the Giants' first draft choice of the first baseball draft, thus enabling The Post to boast of a scoop.

Alan was all confidence, without being cocky. "I'm after a job," he announced. "I'm out to beat out Jim Ray Hart. Oh, sure, I know. Hart's got experience on me and he's a real good hitter. But then if I'm going to let that worry me, I might as well give up. If you can't have confidence in yourself, you never get anywhere."

Although Gallagher felt that his future was at third base (it turns out he was right), he didn't overlook the possibility of moving over to shortstop, or "any place I could help the club."

And although he allowed as how playing in the majors had been an ambition since grade school and that he was thrilled to have been picked by the home town team, he let one and all know, right then and there, that he was no country bumpkin who was going to be lured away from his college education with talk of glory and little else.

Gallagher, as we talked to him that day, hadn't even been contacted by the Giants yet (we even scooped THEM), and allowed as how he wasn't going to contact THEM. "That's their job, not mine," he said. "They have to come to me and they have to make it worth my while to interrupt my college career. I want to play, but I have two years of eligibility left at Santa Clara, and my education comes first."

There had been some earlier reports that Gallagher had set a $50,000 price tag on himself, and when we asked Gallagher about those reports, he called them erroneous.

★ ★ ★

"I'D BE FOOLISH to set a price on myself," he said. "Suppose the Giants had figured on giving me more than $50,000? They'd read the papers and find out they could have for less and I'd lose money-"

(Note) Gallagher did later sign for an estimated $50,000. At that time, Gallagher seemed more interested in the money as a matter of pride ("I don't have fancy tastes"), and was anxious to get started on being able to, "concentrate on baseball."

He liked the idea of the new draft system because bonus boys would no longer be compelled to sit on the bench for the parent club in order to be protected, and liked the idea of perhaps being the first native-born San Franciscan to play for the Giants on the West Coast.

"I don't like benches," he said, "and nobody likes the minors. So I figure on getting out of those minors as soon as a regular."

It's been perhaps a longer haul in the minors than Gallagher had figured on back in those glory days of 1965. And it may be longer. But as we indicated 500 words earlier, if he doesn't make it, it won't be because he was awed by the immensity of it all, or because he didn't try.

★ ★ ★

COUPLE OF WEEKS ago we reported that another local Giant farm hand, Pacifican Marty Coil, had ended negotiations with the Giants, was hoping for a trade — and that Philadelphia had shown interest — and had been ordered to take his pre-induction physical.

We batted about .667 on that one, but unfortunately, while that would be a fantastic batting average for a baseball player, it's lousy for a columnist.

True, Coil was ordered to and did take his Army physical. But, Marty is not necessarily hoping for a trade, and if her were, he's never heard of the rumor about Philadelphia being interested in him. As far as ending negotiations with the Giants, that's technically not accurate.

What happened was that the Giants asked Coil to play for Amarillo in the Class AA Texas League for the same salary he received last year. That was bad enough. But they also wanted him to play first base; or, at least, not necessarily to catch. Coil, however, is a college graduate and can not only add two and two, but can also do a little abstract thinking, and he had figured out that the Giants haven't promoted a Class AA first baseman to even Class AAA in the last half decade. So Coil, who has done a little emergency catching in the pros, figured out some time during the winter that his best shot with the Giants would be as a catcher, and he worked out all winter with the big mitt.

He has told the Giants that he would rather go to a lower classification as a catcher, with a chance to practice with the tools of ignorance by playing daily, than to Class AA as a first baseman or utility man.

The Giant front office in return has cordially notified Marty that when spring training is over and most of the usual roster shifts have been completed, they will then be better able to ascertain their needs for a catcher within the organization, and that they will then do their best to accommodate Marty.

In the meanwhile, Marty is doing some graduate work and selling life insurance in Millbrae.

And we're writing retractions.

LOCAL TAG ENDS: No familiar crack of the lumber on the old horse hide will be heard around Skyline College this baseball season. Not only isn't the playing field completed at the new Coastside college, but, according to Athletic Director Walt Rilliet, Skyline isn't budgeted for baseball in 1970, anyway.

Rilliet is not discouraged, however. He says that the college has progressed faster than he could have hoped for, in that originally, only two varsity sports were blueprinted for Skyline in its first academic year, but the neophyte school has managed to sneak in five.

When baseball does get underway next year, Bill Herron, formerly head coach at San Mateo High, will assume the reins.

And last but not least, Jefferson High's great Pinky Smith was recently named to the second team All-Central Coast prep basketball team by a San Francisco daily.

MILLS HIGH SCHOOL IS STILL buzzing about the Vikings' stunning victory over Burlingame's Panthers in the Mid-Peninsula League tennis match of the year last Friday.

The win over the Panthers places Mills in an excellent position to win the undisputed net title in 1970 after a confusing championship in last season's play. Last year Burlingame beat Mills twice in MPL play but the Vikings won more individual matches throughout the year to spell out the difference.

This year half the title will be decided upon the individual school's won-lost record while the other half is decided by the individual point totals. No matter how it's decided, Viking coach Don Hibson was one happy feila even three days after the fateful match.

"All the players have done great jobs the past few seasons," he enthused. "Last year was a unique experience with the scoring system but this year we hope to continue this string and finish out the season as champions. I'm proud of all of them."

He has a right to be. Consider this fact — until his sophomore year in high school Sherman Spitz, Mills' number one singles star, didn't even play tennis.

"When Sherman first came out he had to start right from the beginning with the basics of the game," Hibson remembered. "He learned quickly, though, and he started the season on our frosh-soph team. He lost one match in the first half of the season and then came up to the varsity as our number five singles player and went undefeated the rest of the way. Since then he hasn't lost an MPL match."

Speaking of the frosh-soph league, Hibson lists that competition as one of the main reasons the caliber of play has been improving in the MPL.

"We like to keep the younger league an 'unofficial' one," the Mills coach noted. "That way no pressure is placed upon a title and players can work on development and skills. Then we can also bring along sophomores on varsity levels without worrying about thinning out an underclass team."

Two such sophomores make Mills' future almost as bright as the present. Kurt Fristrup and Dave Mammau occupy the number two doubles slot and won their match over the Panthers. Another member of the Viking youth corps is junior Ross Binder, who hasn't lost to anyone, anywhere this season. That's a tough row to hoe, too, as Mills played four defending league champions in the practice season.

The number one doubles team of Paul Brosche and Clain Campagna haven't lost in the past two seasons, both being described as "naturals" to the game.

Can't blame Hibson for looking ahead a little, either.

"Next year Burlingame is again the team to beat," he noted. "We lose quite a bit and they should be as strong as ever."

Be that as it may, this year is still what Mills must be thinking about.

YOU THINK CANDLESTICK PARK'S got problems sinking into San Francisco Bay? That's nothing, booby. Terra Nova may be sinking into the Pacific Ocean. Or somewhere.

At least the baseball field position has been slipping and sliding. So much so, in fact, that Tiger coach Al Figone had to take shovel in hand this fall and spread enough turf around to raise home plate and the pitching mound to the prescribed relative heights.

The results, however, have made the mound look like Mt. Everest and anyone sliding into home has had the novel experience of sliding uphill. Comments from opposing coaches ran from "My pitcher isn't used to the rare air that high up . . ." to "I got a nosebleed walking up to talk to him on the mound . . ." to "My batters weren't used to hitting on a 37-degree slant."

Ribbing went far enough, though, and Figone has taken another shovel in hand and attempted to smooth out the entire infield. The problem arose when it was noted the baselines were sinking.

"The entire field has been shifting and it probably will have to have a general overhaul before long," Figone admitted. "It was rather a strange experience, though, because for a while everyone was worried about our field rather than the players. It should be back to normal now."

IS IT POSSIBLE WE WRONGED DeLaSalle High School last week when we mentioned that, because of losing the first two games they played in the Jefferson Easter Tournament, they chose not to show up for the third?

"Yes!" says DLS athletic director Al Claiborne, coming to the defense of his players. A mixup in the scheduling apparently caused the missed third day rather than ill feelings.

"We have taken a quick look at the schedule we received in the mail and noticed that Thursday was listed as the final tourney day," Claiborne explained this past week. "As it turned out the date was right on the bracket-sheet but the day was wrong. We were just as surprised as anyone else when we picked up the paper Thursday morning, as we were getting ready to go to the tournament, and read that we had forfeited a game we didn't even know about."

"We had even stayed at a sorority (sorority?) house to be closer to the Daly City location thus cutting our driving time down. We spent Wednesday (the final day of the tourney) working out, never even thinking we were supposed to play."

So be it.

Serra Loses To No-hitter

When St. Ignatius' Paul Dyer falls into a rut, he's a hard man to remove.

Serra High School tried March 31 and failed as Dyer fired his second no-hitter of the season in setting the Padres down, 1-0, in the West Catholic Athletic League opener for both teams at Sunset Park.

It turned out to be a pitcher's duel between Dyer and Serra's Vic Lavoie with an error in the bottom of the fifth inning accounting for the only run of the game.

South San Francisco High School swimmers got in too deep again March 31 in a practice meet and dropped a 56-39 decision to Cubberley's Cougars.

The Warriors are 2-0 in North Peninsula League play but have yet to win a practice meet. cubberley captured seven first places to stay ahead of the Warriors, now 2-4 overall.

D.C. Alleys Prep For 'Learn To Bowl Week' Activities

"Bowl 'Em Over," is the theme for San Francisco's Learn to Bowl Week—being held at Serra Bowl in Colma and Westlake Bowl, in addition to eight San Francisco centers—which will be devoted to the new bowler April 20-26 with four classes daily.

The week features professional instruction starting on Monday, April 20, with classes at 11 a.m., noon, 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. for the new bowler and retired bowler.

Any former bowlers are welcome to visit the Westlake and Serra complexes for free instructions, bowling and shoes. The housewife, businessman or worker who has never tried to bowl before can do so at no cost daily including Saturday and Sunday during Learn to Bowl Week.

That short, broad shouldered gentleman with a constant smile on at Serra Bowl during the night is Russ Schulman, the 44-year-old new bowling manager.

Schulman is a 20-year veteran of the bowling business and recently returned from Hawaii, where he managed a thriving restaurant in Honolulu.

A general contractor for years, Russ was at Serra Bowl in 1964 and carried a 185 average. "I plan to keep Serra the best house in town for bowling," Schulman explains. "This is where the action is."

Russ Schulman

The action there recently was the doubles tournament and official results show Jim Kataras and Ted Kapsas pulled down the $250 first place check with a 1374 score, six pins better than Larry O'Brien and Ken Waite. In third place was Cathy and Mike Bridant with 1359. Mike won $23.00 for the high game of 290 and also cashed in fifth place while Kataras and O'Brien gained sixth place.

Current action is at Westlake Bowl with Johnny Swanson running another $630 no-tap doubles tournament.

Young Guy Segal is carrying a 200 average in the Ball and Chain league on Wednesday at Swanson's pine emporium. The pine splintered last week when he rolled up games of 258, 266 and 236 for a 760 series.

Topping Serra's action were Stan Buder with a 268 game and Bill Rici scoring 648 for three in the 875 Scratch League.

Sharks Are Not Enough

There were only eleven varsity swimmers in the Crestmoor pool for March 31 interleague meet between the Falcons and the Oceana Sharks — and that was for both teams.

Crestmoor had the advantage of numbers, by one, and took the 46-39 decision in the 400 free relay, the last event of the day.

Four Falcons divided first place honors: Mark Erman in the 100 free, John King in the 200 free, Tim Manning in the 100 breastroke, and Mike Meyer in the 400 free.

Crestmoor is 3-2 overall for the season and 0-2 in Mid - Peninsula League competition.

TN Merman Top Lowell

Terra Nova swim coach Bill Belenis is tired of finishing second. And even though his Tigers haven't lost a meet yet, he isn't going to let up.

Terra Nova destroyed Lowell of San Francisco, 69-24, March 31 in a non-conference practice meet in the Tiger pool.

But according to Belenis, the performance was only fair. "We didn't work out at all during Easter vacation," he said, "and it was pretty noticeable.

"Needless to say, we've got a lot of work to do if we're going to beat El Camino and South City. We could win all the meets up to the last two, but if we lose those, it doesn't matter."

All-Stars Play In DC Rec Leagues

The following is a brief re-cap of the various Daly City Recreation Departments all - star games played in each division:

Seventh Grade - Pacific Coast Division Champs vs All - Stars:

The seventh Grade Pacific Coast Division All - Stars defeated the powerful league champions PAL Lakers by the score of 38-31 behind the very impressive play of Maurice Pittman (Teamsters), Gary Comisky (OLM), and Bryan Johnson(OLM).

Pittman and Comisky led the All-Sar scoring with 10 points apiece while teammate Johnson was a close second scoring points.

The Lakers' valiant effort was spearheaded by Ramon Dominguez, David Boasso, and Keith Galiano, scoring 8, 7, and 6 points respectively.

Seventh Grade - Hoop Burner Division Champs vs All - Stars

The PAL 76ers champions of the Hoop Burner Division, reminded everyone just who the best team in the league was as they notched a commanding win over the division All- Stars by the score of 37-29.

Leading the 76er attack both offensively and defensively were Gary Stipanichand Mark Washford as each scored 12 points.

The All - Stars were paced by the fine 14 point performance of Robert Baptista (OLPH) and the hustle and play making of Ted Scott (OLM).

Eighth Grade League - Golden Gate Divison All - Stars vs Sunset Division All -Stars

The predicted stronger Golden Gate Division All - Stars found the going not so easy as they "bumped heads" with the smaller, scrappy Sunset Division All - Stars, squeaking out a 60-50 win.

Ken Martin (OLPH) with 14 points, Dave Fritz (PAL with 12 points, and Dan Tomczak (PAL) with 10 points were all very instrumental in leading the Golden Gate All - Stars to their win. The Sunset Division II - Stars hung in there all the way, however, due to the outstanding scoring performance of Ken Block (OLPH) who tallied 21 points and the strong assist of teammates Dave Pagano (PAL) and Brian Dorn (PAL).

Fourth Grade - Long Division All-Stars vs. Champs.

The OLPH Crusaders, championsin the 4th Grade Long Division, had their finest hour as they outscored and out played a very fine All - Star team 31,14.

Ben Parodi hit for 11 points and David Howoett scored 9 times to lead the Crusader Attack while the All - Stars were kept in the game by the 8 point contribution of Tony Cooper (PAL) and the defensive play of Brad Katuna (BYA).

Fourth Grade - Short Division All - Stars vs Champs

The 4th Grand Short Division Champs, the Holy Angels Cats, just couldn't get their "machinery" moving as they were overwhelmed by the Division All - Stars team to the tune of 38-1.

It was a team effort all the way by the All - Stars with Chuck Revell (PAL) leading the scoring with 10 points while the one and only point made for the champs was dropped in by Steve Botta.

Fifth Grade - OLPH Falcons vs. All - Star Team No. 1

The championship OLPH Falcons were edged by a fine All - Star team by the score of 20-18 in one of the closest games of the entire program.

Mitch Hanick (Beth Israel - Judea), Mike Stack (OLM) and Jim Flaherty (OLPH), each scored - 4 points and played excellent defensive ball to lead their All - Star team to the fine win.

Paul Galliano, Roger Martin, Jeff Arnold and Bad Levesque were all impressive for the losers.

Fifth Grade OLM Raiders vs All - Star Team No. 2

The second place OLM Raiders put together a strong offensive attack as they slipped past a talented 5th Grade All - Star No. 2 team by the score of 44-37.

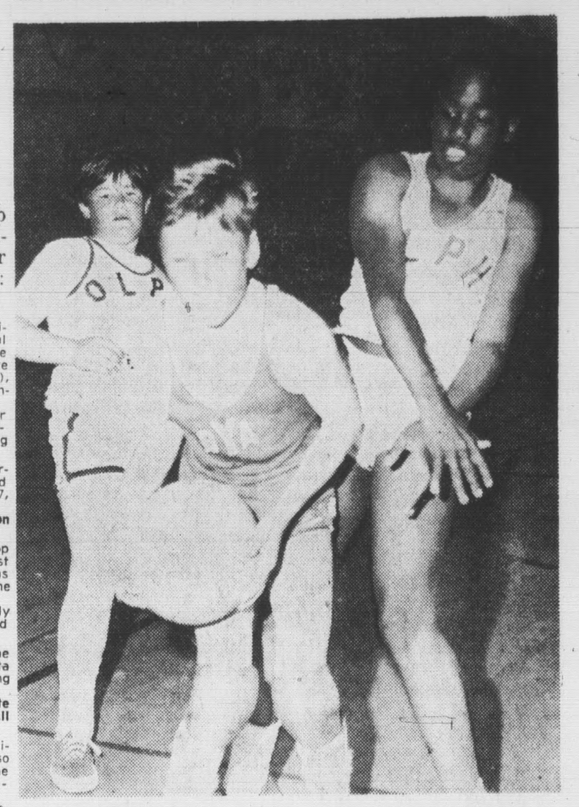
Kevin Chase and Ed Migale sparked the Raiders scoring punch hitting for 14 and 13 points respectively as strong assists were turned in for the winners by teammates Steve Riley and Rich Galliani notching 7 points apiece.

The All - Stars were led by the 16 point performance of Paul Spadaroof Holy Angels and the 9 point assist of Terry King also of Holy Angels.

Sixth Grade - National Divisiion All - Stars vs Champs

The 6th Grade National Division Champions, the OLM Wildcats, played one of their best games as they edged a strong All - Star team 26-24.

Robert Enright sparkled on offense for the winners as he hit the hoop for 10 points. Paul Tonelli and Jose Crocenzi gave strong assists for the Raiders.



PICTURED are just a few of the players featured recently in the 1970 All Star Youth Basketball program sponsored by the Daly City Department. Activities in this program consisted of All-Star games wherein division champions played against league All-Star teams as well as award presentation ceremonies honoring championship teams and outstanding players selected for the All-Star teams.

Book Writter By Messner

Gerald Messner, English instructor and faculty senate president at Canada College, Redwood City, is the editor of a new book entitled "Another View: To Be Black in America," a collection of readings describing the condition of the black man in this country.

The book, Messner's second to be published, is published by Harcourt, Brace and World, Inc.

"The book was formed out of my experience as director for one semester of the College Readiness Program at College of San Mateo," Messner said.

"It is the kind of reading I found was what one had to read in order to understand what the racial issue is," he said. The 28 readings in the book were "my own bibliography," he explained, that he used and recommended to others seeking to understand the racial issues.

Nell Norton
Sugar 'n' Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

As many of you loyal readers have surmised, dessert is my 'avorit dish. So it is with great pleasure that I set about testing and tasting new recipes for plain and fancy desserts. The results of recent tasting and testing are a few added pounds on me and a few new recipes to share with you good cooks.

Most everyone likes apple pie. If there is one complaint about apple pie, it is that one pie doesn't go very far. This first recipe takes care of that complaint handily, for it makes a dessert that will serve 12. I found this recipe in a very fine cookbock put out by the ladies of St. Mark's Church in Venice, Calif.

APPLE SLICES

CRUST:
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
2 egg yolks
6 Tablespoons water

Sift the two cups flour with the half teaspoon salt, twice. Cut in the three-fourths cup shortening. Blend the two egg yolks with he six tablespoons water. Sprinkle the egg-water mixture over flour, one tablespoon at a time, over different parts of the mixture, tossing lightly with a fork until particles stick together when pressed gently. Shape into a smooth ball.

Divide the dough into two parts. Place half the dough between two long sheets of waxed paper, which have been lightly floured. Roll out the dough to fit a 9x13x2-inch baking pan. Place dough in pan and up the sides for about an inch. (Don't be afraid to handle the dough. I did a lot of mending and patching to shape it up the sides of the pan.) Roll out the second part of dough between paper and place over apple filling. Cut small gashes in top crust.

FILLING:
3 pounds apples
1 cup water
1¼ cups sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
A few drops red food coloring, if desired
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup cold water
(Bake 450 degrees for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees, bake 30 minutes.

Pare and core the three pounds apples and cut into eighths. In a large saucepan combine the cup of water, one and one-fourth cups sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon and fourth teaspoon salt. (Add the red food coloring, if you want a more colorful dessert.) Bring to a boiling point. add the sliced apples and cook slowly for 10 minutes. Blend the two tablespoons cornstarch with the fourth cup water and add to the hot mixture. Cook 5 minutes longer, stirring gently. Cool 10 minutes.

Spread the cooled apples over the bottom crust. Cover with top crust and cut small slashes. Bake in 450-degree oven for 20 minutes, reduce heat and cook 30 minutes longer. Cool and sprinkle very lightly with powdered sugar.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since I love to bake pies, I was especially happy to find this Apple Slices crust recipe. It makes two 9-inch pie shells. One filled with a rich custard and the other with a raisin-chestnut filling.

VELVET CUSTARD PIE
4 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups milk, scalded
Dash of nutmeg
One 9-inch unbaked pie shell

In a large mixing bowl combine the four eggs, half cup sugar, fourth teaspoon salt and teaspoon vanilla. Blend well. Scald the two and one-half cups milk and add to the egg mixture. Mix well.

Pour into unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in 425 degree oven for 15 minutes. Turn oven to 350 degrees and bake 20 minutes longer. (Until silver knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean.) Cool on rack.

☆ ☆ ☆

RAISIN-CHESTNUT PIE
2 cups dark, seedless raisins
1-3 cup water chestnut (canned) chopped fine
1½ cups boiling water
2-3 cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 Tablespoons cornstarch
2 Tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup dry sherry
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Cook the two cups raisins, one-fourth cup chopped water chestnuts and one and one-half cups boiling water in covered saucepan 8 minutes. Combine the two-thirds cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt and two tablespoons cornstarch; stir into raisins and chestnuts. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Remove from heat. Stir in the two tablespoons lemon juice and half cup sherry. Turn into pastry-lined pan and bake in 450-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Serve topped with whipped cream or ice cream.

James W. McLaughlin, city clerk of Belmont, has been appointed vice president of the 65-member Bay Aarea City Clerks' Association.

The appointment was announced by the association's president, Mrs. Edythe Campbell, city clerk of Berkeley, following the unexpected resignation of the recently elected vice president.

McLaughlin was recently elected as secretary following a one-year term as treasurer and as editor of the new bulletin "The Golden Chain."

In his new assignment he will act as program chairman and as chairman of the Legislature Committee which concerns itself primarily with election and other legislation pertinent to duties of city clerks.

300 Hear Candidates In Daly City

Some 300 persons attended the Hillside Homeowner's Association Candidates Night at the Colma K-6 school March 31 hear the platforms of ten candidates running in the upcoming April 14 Daly City municipal elections.

Moderator for the program was Frank Loretta with Mrs. Peggy Reilly acting as timer.

Candidates drew numbers which determined what order they would be allowed to present their platform speech. This was followed by random questions from the audience.

First speaker was Mrs. Maria Luna, one of the two women candidates in the race.

She spoke on the need for keeping youth busy and out of trouble with the law and asked the people for "a chance to represent you on the council," noting she had no experience at being a "real politician."

The second speaker and the second woman in the battle for the three council openings, was Mrs. Marie Taylor.

Her platform is based, she told the voters, on the fact that there is no one living on the east side of Daly City on the present council.

She said the area, east of the Junipero Serra Freeway, is where "all the crime and filth is" and people living there are treated "like second class citizens."

Her remarks were challenged by several homeowners in the audience.

"Two years ago I stood on the stage of this school and told you of the need for a traffic signal and other improvements to protect school children in this area — two years later they are still not done," Louis J. Papan said.

In rapid order he laid down his ideas on how to protect the hundreds of children who attend both the Colma and John F. Kennedy schools on East Market Street:

Strict law enforcement in the area; move sidewalks back from the curb edge at least eight feet and erect a steel barricade and fencing; provide a turnaround for motorists in front of the JFK school.

"I'm also entertaining the idea of pushing through Price Street to Mission instead of Molte Moltke Street," Papan said. "And I'm not overlooking the need for an overpass in this area."

Papan further pledged to come to each neighborhood to talk with the people and have the County Board of Supervisors hold periodic meetings in the Daly City area.

Attorney Fran kL. Magnani traced his background and said he would represent all the people and would be available to residents twice a week to discess pertinent matters with them.

Experience in drugs will benefit him in office, pharmacist candidate Dino H. Tonelli said. This knowledge would better help him fight the mounting drug abuse incidents which are connected with crime.

In other fields, his experience as a city Planning Commissioner and formerly as a member of the city's Personnel Board, qualify him to act on prlblems affecting the city, such as taxation of senior citizens and the orderly growth of the community.

He suggested a police station annex be put into the Old City Hall building on Wellington Avenue and another at the now vacated fire station at Bayshore.

If more people would use the Northgate Transit Bus system in Daly City it would have the funds to update its vehicles, according to council candidate McRobert Mac Stewart.

He said BARTD would place a heavy user burden on it when the rapid transit line is in operation and the time to improve the bus line is before the station opens, Stewart said.

Stewart also suggested residents use the local shopping facilities instead of travelling to San Francisco. Sales tax revenues help to hold homeowners' taxes down.

Candidate - attorney William Schumacher said the city needs more recreational facilities; city backing of a strong move to fight the drug problem, and a new juvenile police unit .

The latter would consist of three men and one woman police officer assigned to work on teen problems.

Incumbent Mayor Bernard But Lycett noted that the city council was fully cognizant of the problems afflicting the city "and we are making a sincere effort to do something about them."

He doesn't have a crystal ball to look into and predict what the problems and answers will be on things that may crop up in the future, Lycett said.

During a later question and answer period, the mayor, who is running for his second full term, was asked about the city's Central Services Department which has been ballyhooed by some as being responsible for tripling the budget in the last year.

Repeating what he has said in the past, Lycett explained budgetary figures had been transposed in the budget summation that is distributed to interested persons.

"Had they looked in the (Vehicle Maintenance) section of the budget they would have noticed the mistake, he said.

Incumbent councilman Micheal DeBernardi said that for every $11,000 spent in the city taxes rise one cent and for 16 years he has watched the city's coffers closely.

In 1957 he said DeBernardi said he voted "no" on a budget because it did not seem right.

He has spearheaded such projects as better street lighting; finance department; joint city-school recreational use and the pay-as-you-go plan for city facilities.

Morris Tolson hit out at the Central Services Department and said if elected he would wipe it out along with about half of the city's budget.

He predicted the city employees would strike again if they did not get an improved health care plan this year and said he was able to talk about youth problems with the city's youth "because I communicate with them."

Would Bring Council To The People

Louis J. Papan, Daly City council candidate, pledged today to meet periodically with representatives of resident groups and homeowners' association "in any part of the city in order to get a better insight into their needs."

Papan said "too often the city waits for citizens to come to them when, in fact, problems could be worked out before they become too involved, simply by meeting informally with these citizens on their home ground."

This is especially true of senior citizens and those persons on fixed incomes who cannot find transportation to City Hall to attend various meetings, Papan explained.

"By getting out into the neighborhoods I can see first-hand what the people are talking about. I can't see these things tucked away behind a desk in City Hall," the candidate said.

He said Daly City is a growing city "and will have myriad problems to contend with as the community grows."

"With the cooperation of the community we can find answers to these problems together — before they become too large to handle," Papan said.

He also sees the need for having the County Board of Supervisors meet periodically in the North County.

"Why is it not possible for them to come to us once in a while? Why should we forever have to trudge all the way to Redwood City to air our views?" he asked.

Final Week To Determine Mirri Vote

This final week of campaigning before the municipal elections well could be a determining factor for South San Francisco council candidate Terry Mirri.

The 25-year-old challenger has been tied down to the military at Fort Ord while his supporters have been beating the bush to bring out the vote.

Before he left for his service duty, Mirri went throughout the city talking with citizen leaders regarding the issues as he sees them.

"I have found a basic problem of disunity," he said at that time. "There is a definite conflict between that area above El Camino Real and the area below. It is a broad issue, but very, very real."

That's when he made his commitment to work toward uniting the community. "Dedication to unifying all sections of South San Francisco" has been a campaign platform.

Mirri says city government is contingent upon county recognition, "and you're not going to get this recognition when the city is not united."

He realistically points out that he cannot correct the situation alone. "But I can make every effort to begin some type of program that may assist in a unifying concept."

Mirri, incidentally, says he possesses qualifications no one else possesses. He is "a perfect blend of the old and new." He said he does not represent youth. He represents all the people of South San Francisco.

"This is not a lark, and never was intended to be," said Mirri about his candidacy. "I have every intention of winning."

The question of how effective an absentee campaign is will soon be answered.

Mirri's backers feel the young man is offering a fresh appealing approach to the city government. His supporters include some prominent citizens of the community, as well as youth.

In the early days of the campaigning some were skeptical about Mirri's chances. Now, many of these same people are wondering where this man came from — and they know it's not Fort Ord.

Political Roundup

The nucleus of the John J. Murray Jr. for Supervisor Campaign Committee was announced Thursday by General Chairman Paul Hupf of Daly City.

Hupf, an aoorney and former city councilman and North San Mateo County Municipal Court Judge, said co-chairmen of the Finance Committee are attorney Thomas F. Casey Jr. of San Mateo and Charles E. A. Creighton, a Hillsborough industrialist.

Casey is a former San Mateo City Planning Commission chairman and legal counsel for the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority. He previously served as delegate from San Mateo County to the Bay Area Rapid Transit Board of Directors.

Members of the county-wide financial committee include: Cecil Wells of San Mateo, an engineer and former chairman of the county's Regional Planning Committee; Henry Krabbenschmidt of Hillsborough, who is in the construction business; Forrest Faulkner of Redwood City, sales manager of Rolls Royce Division of British Motors Company, and Peter Fogli of San Mateo, a concrete contractor.

Among others on the financial committee are: Lawrence Johnston of Menlo Park, former manager of the Bank of America and Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce; W. L. Burkdall of San Mateo, a developer and former member of the Regional Planning Committee; Ed Wolfe of Hillsborough, a manufacturer; Paul Coan, a Daly City attorney, and Dawn Nuckels of Hillsborough, who is in the insurance business.

Peter Miller of San Mateo, vice president and manager of the San Mateo Hibernia Bank is campaign treasurer, and the accountant is Donald T. Splain, general partner in his firm of San Mateo public accountants.

Hupf said the campaign coordinator is Phyllis Outzen and publicity director is Bert Silvotti, both of San Mateo, adding that the committee will be working out of its new headquarters in the Skyway Building at San Carlos Airport, off of the Bayshore Freeway.

Murray, who is vice mayor of San Mateo City, is seeking a seat on the County Board of Supervisors from the Third District.

Drug Abuse Is Taylor Concern

"As a concerned parent, one of the most important problems of today is the prevention of drug abuse and the rehabilitation of its victims, Daly City Council candidate Marie Taylor said today.

"In the past we would have discussed this problem in the light of adults but today it is a matter of serious concern in the teenage and even sub-teen years. This subject will be given my immediate and continuing attention because I feel that it involves our most important product—our youth. "You might ask "What will you do as a councilwoman of the city of Daly City?' This is an excellent and most appropriate question.

"I assume that every interested citizen in concerned about the drug problem, how it affects him and his family, and what he can do about it. I, as your elected representative, will take your thoughts and ideas and incorporate them into the Governor's program which has been started and is effectively operating at all levels of society. "While we all have interests and concerns, we need a means of putting these interests and concerns to work in an effective manner so that our energies and dollars are not wasted. This can best be done by working within and in cooperation with an existing program that has proven effective.

"Groups and individuals working independently will find duplication and ineffectiveness the only results whereas a well-coordinated program will effectively utilize the efforts and dollars of all in a manner that will make a constructive contribution to the solution of the problem," Mrs. Taylor said.

Supports BARTD Airport System

San Bruno City Council candidate, Theodore (Ted) Long, today issued enthusiastic support for the recent proposal to add rapid transit to the San Francisco International Airport.

In Mr. Long's words, "The peninsula is in great need of rapid transit. However, one of the major questions is the potential use of rapid transit by peninsula residents.

"It is my feeling that an 'introductory offer' such as rapid transit to the airport will allow many peninsula residents to see the efficiency and effectiveness with which rapid transit can serve the area, thereby lying much of the groundwork for public acceptance of what will one day hopefully be mass transportation for the entire peninsula area."

"We must also not lose sight," Long added, "that many peninsula residents maintain businesses and employment in San Francisco, and under the present system, the airport is not readily accessible to them; and a rapid transit system from San Francisco would greatly aid and serve these many peninsula residents.

"Each city should begin to take inventory of its transportation needs and take an active interest in Bay Area groups which will advocate solutions to the overcrowding of our highways and pollution of our environment," he said.

Slocum Backs Dick Griffith

San Bruno council candidate Dick Griffith has received the vocal endorsement of that city's Will Slocum, a general election write - in candidate for Congressman Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey's seat.

"I am actively, earnestly and typically endorsing San Bruno's determined council watchdog Dick Griffith for election to the city council," said Slocum.

His announced endorsement followed an endorsement of candidate Tony Governale by the San Bruno Teen Center.

Slocum said he doesn't mind supporting Governale, but added that "Griffith has always been outside the council chambers barking at the barricades. And it is about time the poeple of San Bruno gave him a place at the table, and a chance to bite the buttresses.

"The people of San Bruno have been most fortunate to have some one with the determined dedication of Dick Griffith overseeing city affairs," said Slocum. "And Dick Griffith deserves a seat on the city council."

Griffith, incidentally, spoke on behalf of Slocum at a recent council meeting concerning the possibility of Slocum being moved from his apartment because the apartment owner apparently has sold the units to make way for an eatery. The councilmen said they had no control over what a landlord did with his property.

Meanwhile concerning the election, Griffith has stated that "city workers and pensioners need a champion at city hall. They have been treated as second class citizens long enough." "I propose to be that champion," he said.

Stewart Praises Daly City Police

McRobert "Mac" Stewart, candidate for Daly City council seat in next Tuesday's election, said "Our City's police department is noted for being one of the most effective and knowledgeable law - enforcement organizations in the country".

"I believe", he continued, "it would help further police and community relations, if our police personnel were to have more personal contact with city residents. What I mean is, a "close - understanding" relationship—one in which taxpayers become informed, in depth, as to what the department is doing constructively to assist the community. Because, I know they are helping continually, in many ways; and the public has a need to know, so their support may be enlisted."

Stewart explained, "The community support could take the form of educational progams, correlated with schools and civic organizations, requesting the participation of residents for assistance in earrying out preventative measures. The goals would be: the upgrading of good - citizenship and the decreasing incidence of crime.

He further emphasized, "We must vigorously pursue a continuing program, that of making our city a better place to work in, live in and play in."

Record Of Aid To City's Youth

South San Francisco City Council Candidate, Edward J. "Ed" Rickenbacher says he stands on his record in aiding youth.

"I have personally involved myself with youth for approximately 14 years", Rickenbacher said. "This involvement, besides giving me personal satisfaction, has been one way for me to return something to the community that has provided us a pleasant place in which to live, educate and raise our family. So often, I meet one or more of these youths I have worked with at one time or another, and can't help but feel a small spark of pride, thinking that somehow I may have contributed a little towards their growing into the fine, responsible adults they are."

Rickenbacher is calling for more parks and recreational areas.

"Our City is growing and we should expand our recreational facilities for youth as well as adults," he explained. "We must seek new outlets and complete the projects we have started. We have to be alert to new and better ways to implement our programs, which should be aimed for the enjoyment of people of all ages.

"Adults and Senior Citizens have many hobbies to help them relax and use leisure time: folk dancing, square dancing, cultural arts, garden clubs, sports enthusiasts and many others need facilities to pursue their interest," Rickenbacher explained.

Difference In Conflict Ideas

Admitting that City Attorney Joseph Galligan's "definition of conflict - of - interest and mine do not agree as our interpretations of the Brown (Secret Meetings) Act do not, San Bruno City Council candidate Dick Griffith said today.

"Appointive city officials have forgotten their oath of office to the public and used their positions to screen Councilmen from criticism. This in itself is a conflict - of - interest.

"Mr. Galligan saw no conflict in a majority of the Councilmen, having received campaign contributions from a scavenger - firm representative, raising garbage rates an average of $12 per home per year without public hearing.

"He apparently sees no conflict of interest in the Presidtnt of the Peninsula Building Contractors not abstaining on votes for apartment rezonings, nor in Planning Consultant Larry Wise advising the Council on zoning matters from which his own firm (Hahn, Wise and Associates) will later reap financial reward.

"Our City Attorney does not warn Councilman Ingham of the conflict - of - interest involved in utility profiteering to give himself a tax benefit at the espense of homeowners.

"The City Attorney himself is in an awkward position when it comes to giving legal advice on zoning matters, since he himself is a past beneficiary of a spot - zoning in Crestmoor and obtained title to an apartment building there, as did a former Councilman and a Planning Commission Variance favorite, Joe Welch.

"As the City Manager should resign for his political pamphleteering on behalf of incumbents at public expense, so should the City Attoeney and Planning Consultant, for their neglect of the public interest," Griffith said.

Dick Griffith, postal window clerk, has issued the following general statement with respect to his Council campaign:

"My Council candidacies are steps in a continuing battle for better San Bruno government.

"My efforts do not cease between campaigns—and I cite as examples my partially - successful battle last spring to open up the Caucus Meeting and my thus - far unsuccessful attempt to obtain public hearings on garbage - rate increases.

"Much as I respect my fellow - challengers, I did not see them at many Council meetings between elections, except just before. In all fairness to them, however, they may have been inhibited in any criticism of the Council—two of them because they were City Commissioners and a third because of past associations as a Councilman.

"Still, I should have liked to have heard at least one of them speak out—as I did—on such an important matter as the proposed priority for the San Bruno Avenue Railroad Crossing Safety Overpass, which the Council was finally persuaded reluctantly to accept."

Griffith has the additonal duty of "Health Benefits Official " at San Bruno Post Office and is President of the Peninsula Council of Postal Employees (AFL-CIO) as well as Shop Steward of Local 3986 San Bruno.

He supplements his postal income with free - lance writing, where sales have ranged from the Lutheran Companion to New Republic. He is a regular contributor on the staff of some of the Dell Publishing Company's family entertainment publications.

His past experience includes five years as a cost accountant for manufacturers in Indiana and California. He is a graduate of Indiana University and a retired Naval lieutenant.

He lives at 135 Madison Avenue, with his wife Norma and son Steve.

"Some persons have a difficult time visiting City Hall and letting officials know their problems, I propose to go to them," he said.

His platform is also based on keeping senior citizens in the mainstream of daily life with dignity and to work toward relieving the tax burden on not only senior citizens but those on fixed incomes, as well.

"Community planning will insure stable growth and quality living for citizens," Papan said.

Another plank in his platform is youth.

"Our youth deserve every opportunity to grow up in a healthy and educational environment," the candidate said.

Stewart said he is a candidate in the race "because I firmly believe I am especially qualified to effectively serve the people of Daly City.

"My experience has been demonstrated during the past 15 years by earnest representation of all residents; using the common sense approach to good government. Further, I served for eight years as city Planning Commissioner during the period when the city had unprecedented growth and I feel I can serve our community efficiently and help resolve Daly City's present and future problems by bringing my past experience to the council," Stewart said.

William Schumacher

William (Bill) Schumacher is a trustee of the Jefferson Elementary School District. He was elected to that post last year.

A graduate of San Francisco State and the University of San Francisco, Schumacher did graduate work at the University of California and has attended Federal Bureau of Investigation training classes at the San Francisco Police Academy.

The candidate is also a member of the P-TA and D.C. Toastmasters Club.

"We need a more modern and enlightened approach to law enforcement. The tragic problems of juvenile offenders and drug abuse cry out for better answers," Schumacher says.

He feels he is particularly fitted to answering these qestions and bases this finding on his experience as a policeman, a school trustee and a college educator.

Married, Schumacher has three children: Michael (10), James (7) and Diane (3).

Priola Urges S.M. County Voters Support Spadarella

Analyzing the present composition of the State Assembly, and the impact of the April 1 census on reapportionment, Assemblyman Paul Priola of Pacific Palisades and Chairman of the Assembly Committee on Elections, has urged San Mateo County voters to "place more businessmen in the Assembly."

"We need more men like Frank Toto Spadarella in the Assembly," he told a South San Francisco breakfast meeting of "Republicans for Spadarella."

"We need a businessman who knows what it means to meet a payroll, and what it means to conserve expenses," declared Priola in urging support for Spadarella in his bid for the seat now held by non-businessman Leo Rayan in the 27th Assembly District of northern San Mateo County.

Analyzing the various reapportionment possibilities which may come in 1971 following the present census, Assemblyman Priola predicted the possibility of San Mateo County acquiring an additional Assembly seat.

"If present projections of population growth for San Mateo County are accurate, San Mateo County will have three assemblymen, instead of two, after the 1971 reapportionment," he stated. He also predicted that the greater population growth of Santa Clara County will give that county an additional seat, for a total of four in the State Assembly.

Assemblyman Priola told his audience that the legislative record of 1969, which for the first time in many years showed a slight Republican majority, needs the presence of more Republicans in this year's election.

"You have the opportunity of increasing that majority by wholehearted support for Frank Toto Spadarella," he added.

This sentiment was echoed by State Senatorial candidates Assemblyman Carl Britschgi of the adjoining 28th assembly district, and Sam Halsted.

Among others present were Frank Bertucelli, Mayor of South San Francisco, prominent members of the bench, and a large number of San Mateo County businessmen and civic leaders.

Papan Pledges Local Meetings

"In my judgment, the 'unknown citizen,' the average, hardworking man and woman on the street must not be bypassed any longer," council candidate Louis J. Papan said today.

If elected to the council, Papan vowed to attempt to persuade his colleagues to meet with the people in neighborhoods at night "or I will go alone."

"I will make every effort to encourage city department officials to attend these meetings so that citizens can speak directly to all public officials whether they are elected or appointed," Papan said.

Man Found Dead At Load Dock

A 30-year-old grounds maintenance man at Capuchino High School in San Bruno died Wednesday morning as a result of what appears to be a freak accident, police said.

Albert Leveroni, of 3711 Madera Way, San Bruno, apparently was killed after being struck by a truck that had been unloading its wares at the school cafeteria.

Police have impounded the vehicle and withheld the name of the driver pending further investigation. Lab specialists were scheduled to inspect the truck Thursday morning.

There were no witnesses to the incident, which, according to police calculation, occurred at approximately 9:45 a.m.

Police were called to the scene, the loading dock behind the cafeteria, at about 9:50 a.m. The body of the victim was lying beside the driveway next to a sprinkler unit, which he apparently was in the process of turning on.

Barney Meyn, school engineer, said he and a fellow worker had just talked to the victim five minutes prior to the time they saw the body. When they spoke with him, the victim had been on the grounds checking sprinklers.

Police theorize that meanwhile the victim walked to the sprinkler unit beside the driveway leading to the cafeteria loading dock where two trucks were unloading.

He apparently was in the process of opening the sprinkler system, police said, as the unit cover was off and a pair of pliers was lying beside the cover.

The first truck, police learned, left without incident, and the driver said he did not recall seeing anyone near the drive.

Apparently when the second truck left, the driver also did not see the victim, but it appears, police said that he was struck by this vehicle.

Jeff Examines Overcrowding

The only real conclusion reached at last week's meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District is that Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School (still) is overcrowded.

A crowd of nearly 75 persons trudged through the doors of the district headquarters to find out what path the trustees would take to ease the situation.

Basically they had three alternatives; institute a kindergarten through eighth grade program throughout the district, construct a third junior high school at the vacant Savage school site, or convert, temporarily, the Fernando Rivea school into a junior high school.

Trustees voted, instead, to table the matter until the regular board meeting of April 14. Indications were that they may not take any specific action at that time, unless they are certain they've studied the problem thoroughly.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood stayed with an earlier suggestion that the best plan at the moment would be to convert Fernando Rivera into a two-grade intermediate school. This would necessitate the transfer of some Fernando Rivera students to Westlake School.

According to Greenwood, this would be a two-year proposal, costing an estimated $125,000 to $150,000. It would mean at least a ten cent increase on the tax rate.

The audience also had suggestions. These included a statement that Benjamin Franklin is "an educational disaster area," where there has been a breakdown in management, housekeeping and disciplinary problems. The pro-con split was evident.

Then there was the young lady who quite seriously said she was of the impression the purpose of the school was to prepare the youth for what he is to face in the future.

This being the case, she suggested the Ben Franklin students remain at overcrowded Ben Franklin Schoool, "since over-population is one of the problems kids are going to have to live with."

Meanwhile, suggested Greenwood, a survey could be taken by an "outside" firm to determine what would be the best way for the district to go, taking into consideration variables such as present physical plants, space available, population growth, etc. He quoted a survey cost figure of between $15,000 and $20,000.

"We would simply want data from this survey, not recommendations," said Greenwood. He is seeking an early decision, whatever it might be, so he can implement the program before the next school year.

Trustee William Schumacher balked at Greenwood's proposal of conversion because he felt it would be a "duplication of facilities in the same area."

He said also that, "the trouble with temporary facilities is that they become permanent," and stressed again there was a need to place an intermediate school in another part of the city.

Board member Edward Tomasello questioned whether it might not be possible in the near future to sell bonds for construction at the Savage site. The maximum the district can pay is five per cent interest. Tomasello pointed out that some banks now have 6 to 6¾ per cent rates.

He also posed the theoretical problem of what would happen should parochial school enrollments overflow into the district.

Fire Claims Attic In San Bruno

Firemen in San Bruno are attempting to determine what started the blaze that at noon on March 31 swept through the attic of Mrs. Alice Hannan's home, causing an estimated $5,000-plus damage.

The authorities said the fire started at the southeast corner of a glass, wood and fibre glass, fully enclosed patio area to the rear of the home at 2311 Princeton Drive, in the Crestmoor Park region.

But the firemen don't know how it started, or if it started on the inside or outside of the patio structure.

They do know, however, that the flames travelled up wood girders to the fibre-glass roof and from there into the attic of the main house.

Firemen said the roof of the house and the patio structure were destroyed, but that interior damage to the three-bedroom, wood frame-stucco home was minimal.

A fire department spokesman said they were able to get a "quick stop" and confine the flame to the attic and roof, even though the rear portion "was fully involved" when firemen arrived.

Mrs. Hannan, a widow, was not at home. A neighbor discovered the blaze and called the firemen.

SSF Rotary Celebrates Founding

The Rotary Club of South San Francisco celebrated the 65th founding of the worldwide service organization recently with a special program when Dr. William Pemberton, UC psychologist spoke on "Defusing Verbal Bombs."

Next month some 20 Italian college age students will be entertained by members in their homes. The youths are members of Rotaract, a college age group sponsored by Rotary.

There is also a matching club program with work toward the exchange of students with Merida, Yucatan in Mexico. This project is being developed by Renan Dominquez and El Camino High School's Interact Club. This local club, started last year, is one of 2,560 in 64 countries.

The SSF Rotary Club operated under a $10,000 a year budget for its 71 members. Its basic service project include support for the South San Francisco Boys Club, Police Athletic League and various scholarships. There is also support for the camperships in the Boys Club, Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls. The club recently gave $600 toward the trip to Europe of the El Camino School Band.

Other service projects include student guests from the local high schools.

Treatment For Wound

Michael Owen Roberts, 2727 Edison Way, Apt. 109, Redwood City, was treated at Mills Memorial Hospital Saturday night for a bullet wound on his right foot.

Roberts told Deputy Sheriff Raymond Garibaldi that he was target shooting in the El Granada Quarry when his revolver discharged prematurely while he was drawing it from its holster.

N.Y. Garbage Waste Paper 50 Per Cent

Did you know that half of the garbage in New York City is composed of paper?

That's what Congressman Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey pointed out at the Friday breakfast with officials of South San Francisco and San Bruno, who expressed concern about the growing garbage problem.

The congressman further stated that one-third of this 50 per cent of waste paper is the New York Times.

McCloskey used this fact, he said he obtained after talking with New York Mayor John Lindsay, to illustrate a congressionally proposed solution to curbing the garbge problems — reuse of waste materials.

In the case of the newspaper, the cost would go up, say, another three cents. The money would go to a special fund to be used in developing a method of making waste materials reusable.

The same principle (of figuring the cost of disposal of a product) could apply to all non-disposable manufactured materials, according to McCloskey.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

QUESTION: My friends keep telling me about the pounds they have lost on a grapefruit diet plan which allows a person to stuff with foods that were formerly "forbidden." Do you have any information on this so-called magical diet?

ANSWER: We have noted advertisements in the local newspapers which carry the statement "Los 10 pounds in 10 days on new grapefruit diet," "eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds." "Regain the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. Order now before others snap up the limited supply."

The Better Business Bureau cannot act as a judge as to whether a particular diet plan may be of value but it does consider advertising which implies general and permanent effectiveness, without qualification, to be misleading. The ad says "the grapefruit juice in this new plan might act as a catalyst (the trigger) to start the fat burning process." There is no scientific evidence to establish that citrus fruit, especially grapefruit, acts as a catalyst to exert a biochemical effect on the body's metabolism.

Both medical and nutritional authorities consider low carbohydrate diets potentially hazardous to health and nutritionally inadequate unless competently supervised by a physician or a nutritionits.

Daly City Boy Is Hit-And-Run Victim

A young seven-year-old Daly City boy, victim of a hit and run motorist, was reported in satisfactory condition Thursday at Mary's Help Hospital.

Kalon Bey, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bey of 1171 Southgate Avenue, was struck by a 1959 white Ford station wagon shortly after 5:30 p.m. Thursday in front of his home.

The driver sped off, leaving the boy lying in the roadway.

Witnesses told police the car was driven by a white youth heading south on Southgate Avenue.

The boy was taken to Mary's Help Hospital where he was treated for a broken left hand and bruises.

Girl Bites Security Girl On Her Arm

Thursday just wasn't Macy security officer Doris Paradisis's day.

She spotted two women allegedly pilfering some goods at the Serramonte store and routinely moved in and apprehended them.

Fellow employee Alfred Bird routinely came to help officer Paradisis excort the suspects to the office.

But the pair apparently didn't like the "routine" and while one allegedly pulled a knife and slashed Miss Pardisis on the hand, her accomplice sunk her teeth into the security officer's left arm.

The struggle ended abruptly and the girls — identified as Barbara Spears, 17, and Beverly Glenn, 19, both of San Francisco — were hustled off to the Daly City jail for booking.

Miss Spears was charged with petty theft, assault with a deadly weapon, possession of marijuana (police said a subsequent search of the girl's purse revealed the drug), and possession of dangerous drugs. She was sent to Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center.

Booked into city jail and held in lieu of $1,250 bail was Miss Glenn on charges of petty theft, assault and battery and posses-

Fiery Crates Are Thrown Over The Side

A dramatic fire fighting effort by a San Bruno trucker was witnessed by motorists on the Bayshore Freeway in San Mateo 1Friday afternoon.

The trucker, Raymond Baggs, of 3650 Exeter Drive, was driving his flatbed moving truck northbound near the Peninsula Avenue overpass about 6 p.m. Suddenly, passing motorists began honking their horns and yelling at him.

Behind him, large crates were on fire.

Baggs stopped his truck, ran to the back and jumped into the midst of the fire.

He heaved the burning crates off the truck.

But by then several moving pads and the stakes along the side of the truck were burning, too.

He ripped out the stakes and heaved them overboard along with the pads.

Seven truck drivers stopped to give assistance to the driver, using their fire extinguishers on the crates burning on the freeway.

San Mateo firemen were called to help and moved the crates to the side of the freeway.

Area Cancer Society Elects New Officers

Members of the South San Francisco Unit of American Cancer Society recently met to elect new officers. Mrs. Gail Gluck was appointed president, Mrs. Al Malaspina, vice president, and Mrs. Charles G. Bokelund, crusade chairman. Mrs. Perseo Da Prato is public information chairman.
